

TWA Set to Shut Down if Walkout Goes Into Effect

Strike Due To be Started At Midnight

Kansas City —AP— The men who maintain and service Trans World Airlines planes prepared to strike at 11:58 tonight and TWA says it will suspend operations if they do.

The airline, one of the nation's Big Four, said it would furlough its 19,000 employees if the 6,700 members of the International Association of Machinists strike.

A spokesman for the TWA offices in New York City said a strike would shut down TWA operations worldwide. TWA operates 200 planes on 50,000 miles of routes — across the United States from San Francisco to New York, across the Atlantic, through Europe to the Far East.

A similar strike grounded Capital Airlines planes for the 16th day today.

Proposals Rejected
TWA and District 142 of the IAM have been negotiating since their contract expired Oct. 1, 1957. Their dispute has been heard by federal mediators and a presidential emergency board. The union rejected recommendations by both.

The principal controversy concerns the union's insistence that all TWA workers since their contract expired Oct. 1, 1957, be treated as regular employees and not as contract workers.

The way it is now, the company has been taking workers out of the classifications under the old contract and putting them in classifications outside the contract," said Cliff Miller, general chairman of District 142. "We want to insure that this is stopped."

TWA made a new wage offer yesterday and asked it be submitted to the membership. The union refused.

The airline said the raises would have given an average $285 in back pay to each employee and $35 more on each pay check starting the first of the month. This, the company said, would cost $44 million.

Give Praise To Officer at Army Trial

Ft. Jackson, S. C. —AP— Several high-ranking officers testified today as defense character witnesses for First Lt. Gerald L. Wheatley, 23, of Bridgeton, N. J., but the deputy commanding general of this army post failed to make a scheduled appearance.

Brig. Gen. William R. Woodward was called to testify at the start of the second day of the young lieutenant's general court-martial on charges of abusing recruits.

The base public information office said Gen. Woodward was delayed by a breakfast conference and by a minor fire on the post.

A number of officers who previously served with Wheatley testified that he was a superior officer of high character.

Praise From Superiors
"In spite of the charges and regardless of the outcome of this court, I would trust Wheatley with command responsibilities," said Lt. Col. Hallie B. Henry of Sullivan's Island, S. C., executive officer of the training regiment in which Wheatley served.

Lt. Col. James A. Luttrell of Knoxville, Tenn., commander of the battalion in which Wheatley served, told the tribunal "I would take him back anytime — particularly in combat. I always thought he would be well-suited for combat."

Wheatley faced a maximum sentence of 3½ years in prison and dismissal from the service if convicted on the three charges of assault and battery, two of conduct unbecoming an officer and one charge of mistreating recruits.

Fireman Dies, 28 Hospitalized Because of Gas

Baltimore —AP— One fireman died while fighting a stubborn warehouse blaze today. A score or more firemen were hospitalized.

Mercy hospital identified the dead fireman as Lt. Charles Leutner, about 40. Mercy also had 19 others rushed in by a fleet of ambulances, and Johns Hopkins hospital reported 9 were brought there.

Dr. Robert Mahon at Mercy said Leutner apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning. "It was because they were in a closed area which knocked them out like flies. I think the rest will be okay," he said.

At first, he said, it was thought the cause was magnesium oxide poisoning, but quick tests virtually disproved the act of coronation will quick that.

Magnesium was stored in a warehouse on E. Lombard street.

Force Not His Chief Weapon, Chiang Insists

Depends More on Political Than Military Means

BY GENE KRAMER
Taipei —AP— President Chiang Kai-shek on his 72nd birthday reaffirmed today that force is not his major weapon for recovering the communist-ruled mainland.

Instead, he said in a message read for him at a nationalist youth corps rally, the primary weapon is political—defined previously as fomenting rebellion on the red mainland.

"To carry out our mission of anti-communist and national survival," Chiang's message said, "we depend upon political more than military means. As I have said before, 30 per cent military plus 70 per cent political."

Chiang was in seclusion outside this capital. His message was read by his righthand man and probable successor, Vice President Chen Cheng. Must Be Ready

Chen told the crowd of several hundred listeners "we must rely on the president to carry out our great task of anti-communist revolution." But he reiterated this familiar nationalist theme:

"Our responsibility is to counterattack against the mainland and deliver our suffering compatriots there."

Chen said the communists might expand the battle of Quemoy and Matsu at any time and the nationalists "should be well prepared for a long struggle in order to achieve a bigger victory."

Chen did not elaborate on the "bigger victory" or the counterattack, but he was trying to soothe dissatisfaction over Chiang's recent renunciation of force as a principal means of regaining the mainland.

This pledge, made at the conclusion of talks here with Sec. of State Dulles, did not rule out a counterattack if there is a big anti-communist revolution on the mainland.

The nationalists marked Chiang's birthday with noisy fireworks and music. Across the strait from Formosa, communist batteries shelled Quemoy sporadically.

Boy Stops School Bus as Driver Dies

Cullman, Ala. —AP— The school bus, half filled with students en route to West Point High school here, suddenly began to swerve from one side of the road to the other.

Wayne Pearson, one of the alarmed students aboard the bus early Thursday, caught a glimpse of the bus driver's face in the rear vision mirror. The driver, James Riley Copeland, Sr., 56, appeared to be ill.

Pearson, 16, jumped to the front of the bus and put his foot on the brake, slowly bringing the big vehicle to a halt.

Copeland slumped over the steering wheel. Coroner Grady Moss said the driver died of a heart attack.

Russia Again Demands End of Nuclear Tests

Delegate Speaks at Start Of Negotiations With West for Joint Action

Geneva —AP— Russia today reiterated its demand for an immediate suspension of nuclear weapon tests forever. Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the demand at the start of negotiations with the United States and Britain for a joint suspension of tests under international control.

Tsarapkin said a permanent undertaking by the three powers to stop tests should precede negotiation of the control system to detect violations. The west has consistently refused to agree to a permanent cessation of tests unless the control system is set up first.

Meanwhile, voluntary British and American cessation of tests for a one-year period went into effect today. But both countries have given notice they will resume testing if Russian tests continue.

Tsarapkin did not refer directly to the western suspension offer, but declared Russia "will immediately discontinue its experimental explosions" if the western powers are willing to conclude an agreement for permanent suspension. This was assumed to indicate that the Russian test program has not been discontinued as of today.

Closed Meetings
The three delegations opened their talks in the Palace of Nations with a brief public session. They then went into closed session and reportedly began work with a procedural discussion.

The negotiations, expected to continue for at least a month, will be conducted in secrecy.

Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin was chairman of the first meeting. Britain's David Ormsby-Gore and the United States' James J. Wadsworth will preside over the following meetings in that order, and the chairmanship will then continue in rotation each day.

The two western governments hoped Russia would join them in an informal suspension of test explosions for the time being.

All three nations professed to favor banning the tests, but a continuing east-west split underlined by these developments on the conference eve.

The Soviet Union insisted that the talks must lead to an agreement outlawing tests immediately and forever, re-

Pope John XXIII, the 'Countryman'

New Pontiff Dedicated to Church From His Boyhood

BY FRANK BRUTTO

Vatican City —AP— Thousands in the Vatican square roared approval when Pope John XXIII stepped to the balcony of St. Peter's basilica to give his first blessing to the city of Rome and the world.

In the narrow streets of Sot-

The world in his reign of nearly two decades learned to know Pope Pius XII, his personality and his thinking, better than it had ever known a ruler of the Roman Catholic church. His successor, John XXIII, who will be crowned next Tuesday, is a comparative stranger. Here, in the first of three vivid word pictures of the new pontiff, the AP's veteran chief Vatican correspondent tells some of the similarities and differences between Pope John and his predecessor, and the steps by which John XXIII reached the pontifical throne.

Confessed Slayer of 3 Women Arrested by California Police

Santa Ana, Calif. —AP— A confessed slayer of three Los Angeles area models today led police to the desert graves of two of them.

Harvey M. Glatman of Los Angeles led officers to a remote, sandy area near Escondido in San Diego county. He identified the remains found there as the bodies of Mrs. Shirley Ann Loy Bridgeford, 24, a divorcee of Sun Valley, a Los Angeles suburb, and Miss Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, a Los Angeles model.

Brings About Capture
A body found, also in the desert, near Indio in Riverside county last December is believed to be that of his third victim, Mrs. Judy Ann Dull, 19, of West Hollywood. Glatman told police he killed her and buried her in that area.

Eisenhower Bids For GOP Congress

Expected to Praise Record of Administration, Sen. Johnson Claims Credit for Democrats

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower makes a final bid tonight for a Republican congress. The opposition says he owes thanks to the Democratic-controlled congress for any administration accomplishments.

Eisenhower, who has campaigned with new vigor in this year's battle for congress, chose Baltimore for his wind-up vote-Republican appeal to the nation via radio and television.

The president has struck some heavy blows at the Democrats in speeches all the way to the west coast. But he was expected to lay emphasis tonight on what he contends are his administration's achievements in the foreign and domestic fields.

Praises Democrats

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said last night Eisenhower has received more cooperation from Democrats in congress than from Republicans in the house and senate.

Speaking to a party rally in Indianapolis, Johnson said the president ought to remember "that the accomplishments he now holds forth as his own are the works of a Democratic congress."

In this connection, Johnson mentioned anti-recession measures and steps to counter Russian scientific advances. The Texas said Democratic votes saved Eisenhower's foreign policy program in congress.

The senate Democratic leader also dismissed as scare words the charges by Republican campaigners, including Eisenhower, that the Democrats harbor political radicalism.

ment speaking of what he called "the shoddy Democrat record on civil rights." Alcorn said "we had 20 years of nothing in the field of civil rights when Democrats controlled both the congress and the White House."

Countering, Democratic Chairman Butler said the Republican party "has a long and public record of callous duplicity on human rights." He said it took a Democratic-controlled congress to pass the first civil rights legislation in this century.

Detroit Bids Farewell to Its Cardinal

225,000 People Wait, File Past Mooney's Bier

Detroit (AP)—The archdiocese of Detroit will bid farewell to Edward Cardinal Mooney today at solemn funeral services to be attended by personal representatives of Pope John XXIII and President Eisenhower.

The 76-year-old Mooney, spiritual leader of more than 1,200,000 Roman Catholics in the archdiocese, died Saturday at Rome an hour before he was to take part in the conclave of cardinals which elected the new pope.

More than 225,000 persons, including 160,000 school children—stood in line for hours yesterday waiting for a chance to walk past the bier where the cardinal's body lay in state in Blessed Sacrament cathedral.

Open All Night

The crush of mourners was so great that church officials had to keep the cathedral open all night and right up to within an hour of the funeral mass at 11 o'clock this morning so the people could pay final respects.

More than 65 bishops took part in the solemn ceremonies with the Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States as celebrant of the solemn pontifical mass.

Ordinarily, all American cardinals would have attended the mass, but both Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and James Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles are required by church law to remain in Rome until after the coronation of Pope John XXIII on Tuesday.

Pope John named the Right Rev. Monsignor Pius Benincasa of Buffalo, N.Y., who is attached to the Vatican secretary of state's office in Rome, as his personal representative.

Msgr. Benincasa flew here from Italy yesterday.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield headed the long list of public officials as representative of President Eisenhower. Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani attended as did representatives of the U.S. Armed Forces and Foreign consulates in Detroit.

Monte Hukill, "the Little King" as Baylor hospital nurses in Dallas, Texas, have titled him, will leave the hospital soon with a heavy cast but a bright future. Born with a cleft spine, dislocated hip and club foot, surgeons have repaired the foot and the hip and removed a cyst from the spine.

Two of 'Lucky 12' Say They'll Quit Mining

Rescue Crews Probe Deeper Into Shaft In Nova Scotia; Hope Dims for Others

Springhill, Nova Scotia (AP)—Some of the 12 men rescued from a week's entombment in a wrecked coal mine have had it. Two vowed today they never will go back to the mines.

Levi Milley, 47, put it this way from a hospital bed where the lucky 12 have been recuperating since their rescue yesterday.

"Well, you can say this: Levi Milley, former coal miner of Springhill and chicken-raiser on the side, is looking for a fulltime job on a chicken farm some place."

Never Going Back

"Doesn't matter where. I'll go anywhere. They'll never get me back in that mine."

"I'm never going back into that mine," said Harold Brine. "If I can't make a living somewhere else I'll starve. Being trapped like that gives you an awful feeling."

A similar view was expressed by some of the others. Or their wives said it for them.

Mine rescue crews meanwhile probed deeper into the Cumberland No. 2 colliery in search for 40 miners still missing in the disaster.

Assistant Rescue Director Frank Dockey said he held only slim hope that any more of the missing men would be found alive.

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, planned to break his trip back to London to visit this grief-stricken town of 7,000 tonight. He has been attending a conference of the English-speaking union in Ottawa.

Talk With Men

Philip was to see the colliery pithead, the bleak nerve center of the search, and to talk with the 12 men hauled to safety yesterday after 64 days of hunger, thirst and despair in a debris-sealed pocket.

The rescued men relaxed at the 50-bed, asbestos-shingled All Saints hospital, a mile from the mine. Doctors said all are in good shape and can return home after a short rest except for Joseph McDonald, 38, who has a broken leg.

Of the 174 miners caught by the gigantic upheaval that wrecked the mine Oct. 23, the record today showed:

Rescued — 93
Dead — 32
Missing — 49
The 32nd body was brought up early today.

Dog-tired searchers — both miners working without oxygen masks and specially trained, masked draegermen—continued digging. The volunteers spell each other every eight hours.

May Take Week

With several hundred feet of rock and debris still to be pierced at the 13,000 and 13-400-foot levels, it may be a week or more before the job is accomplished.

In Halifax, the Nova Scotia provincial government proclaimed next Sunday a day of public mourning for those who died.

The provincial cabinet named a committee to study the cause of the disaster — or so situation of Springhill and recommend what could be done to save its economy, largely dependent on the mine. Company officials have announced that the mine, which employed 900, is not likely to reopen. The adjacent Cumberland No. 4 shaft was closed in 1956 after an explosion in which 39 miners died.

Reds Invite Novelist to Leave Country

Broadcast Levels Fresh Blast at Nobel Prize Winner

London (AP)—Moscow radio, in 10 languages, invited novelist-poet Boris Pasternak today to get out of the Soviet Union.

"Let him go where he wishes to," the broadcasts said of the writer, who turned down the 1958 Nobel prize this week under heavy Soviet pressure.

"No Soviet man or woman wants to breathe the air he breathes."

The broadcasts—in English, German, French, Portuguese, Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Greek, Italian and Serbo-Croat—declared the author of "Doctor Zhivago" has "no place in Soviet society." They called Pasternak "a man who in spirit has long been a traitor to his country and who has now spat in its face. A poet of the decadent school. A pretender to aesthetic culture who wrote for a select few and had no contact with the people."

No Harm

At about the same time, in Stockholm, a Soviet diplomat was issuing assurances that no harm would come to Pasternak and that he will still get royalties from abroad for his novel.

Nicolai Voinov, Soviet charge d'affaires, told the Swedish Writers association that "no reprisals will be taken against Boris Pasternak."

Pasternak rejected the $41,420 Nobel prize for literature Wednesday, six days after it was awarded him. He previously had thanked the Royal Swedish academy for the prize. He obviously changed his mind because of the storm raised in the Soviet press. If Voinov's statement is correct, Pasternak still would have an income despite his ouster from the Soviet Writers' union. While the book never was published in the Soviet Union, it has been a best seller abroad.

Believe New Pope May Soon Call Consistory

At Least Two American Prelates May Receive Red Hats of Cardinal

Vatican City (AP)—Pope John XXIII's activities stirred speculation today that he would call a consistory soon — perhaps before Christmas — to increase and strengthen the College of Cardinals.

The newly elected pontiff may avoid the device of mass consistories, a distinctive mark of the reign of his predecessor, Pius XII.

But Vatican observers picture the new spiritual sovereign of the world's half billion Roman Catholics as anxious to strengthen his senate of cardinals in the light of the vastly complex problems of administration facing the church in the modern age.

There are still 17 vacancies in the college, whose normal strength is 70. It is believed the new pontiff is considering elevating at least two American prelates to bring the U.S. representation in the college back to four members.

Six More Italians

He also is reported considering the elevation of six more Italians, which would bring Italy's representation to 23 princes of the church.

The far-flung affairs of the church would seem to require a continuation of Pius XII's policy of stressing the church's universality. It would be no surprise, therefore, if Pope John named at Msgr. Giuseppe Olivetti, re-elected two new Latin-American cardinals, one African who perhaps would be the first February.

Negro cardinal in history, and at least one more Asian. Vacancies also might be filled in Spain, Austria, the Netherlands and England.

Almost sure to be raised to the purple are Msgr. Domenico Tardini, Vatican pro-secretary of state, and Archbishop Giovanni Battista Montini of Milan. Both long had served Pius XII in the administration of foreign affairs, and both received his permission to decline a cardinal's red hat so they could work closely with him.

Secretary of State

Msgr. Tardini also is considered in line for the post of cardinal secretary of state. The office has been vacant since 1944, when Luigi Cardinal Maglione died.

The new pontiff has departed from his predecessor already in other respects. He has filled several posts which the late pontiff had left vacant.

There are reports that he has instructed the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, to get closer to the people by using less complicated language. A man born in the countryside himself, he evidently wants the official newspaper to communicate with Catholics in plain, easily understandable Italian.

Venice's auxiliary bishop, fore, if Pope John named at Msgr. Giuseppe Olivetti, re-elected two new Latin-American cardinals, one African who perhaps would be the first February.

States Turn To U. S. in Time of Need

But Chief Justice Says Self Help Plan Still Best

San Francisco (AP)—Americans can best provide for their own welfare through state governments, but when those fail they turn to the federal government, says Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Speaking at the dedication yesterday of the University of California's new cardiovascular research institute, Warren noted that the heart laboratory was "primarily the creation of the state government, rather than of the federal government in Washington."

A $46,000 appropriation from the state legislature launched the million dollar institute, which received a $230,000 grant from the U. S. public health service and grants from other federal, state and private agencies.

In an oblique reference to the furor in the south over public school integration, Warren declared that "in some parts of the country the cry is heard that the federal government is infringing upon what is known as states' rights."

Failed the People

"There may have been times in our history when the federal government became too deeply involved in matters that were the proper prerogatives of the states," Warren said, "but in my opinion this has generally happened only when the states themselves have failed to meet the needs of the people."

He added:

"When the state governments fail to satisfy the needs of the people, the people appeal to the federal government."

"Whether the question is one of the advancement of human knowledge through research, of law and order, or of the right of all persons to equal protection of the laws, the federal government need become involved only when the states fail to act."

Strike Idles 1,400 Workers at Western Atomic Energy Plant

Albuquerque, N.M. (AP)—A strike of 63 members of Local 99 International Guards Union of America has idled 1,400 workers at ACF industries plant here.

ACF is a prime contractor for the atomic energy commission.

The guards went on strike in a wage dispute. They ask 20 cents an hour wage increase and the company has offered six cents.

About 1,400 members of the International Association of Machinists have refused to cross the guards' picket line.

The plant manager, W. J. Jackel, said yesterday that the company has not yet been able "to determine what effect the stoppage will have on the plant's work program."

The guards' wages range from $2.05 to $2.50 an hour, a company spokesman said.

33 States Represented At Lawrence

Students From Five Foreign Countries Also Enrolled

Thirty-three states and five foreign countries are represented in the Lawrence college student body this year, according to statistics recently released by Dorothy H. Draheim, college registrar.

The geographical distribution of the Lawrence student body has been growing steadily larger in the last five years. In 1953-54 there were only 19 states and four foreign countries who sent students to Lawrence. Two or three states a year have been added steadily since that time, except between the falls of 1955 to 1956, when it jumped seven states.

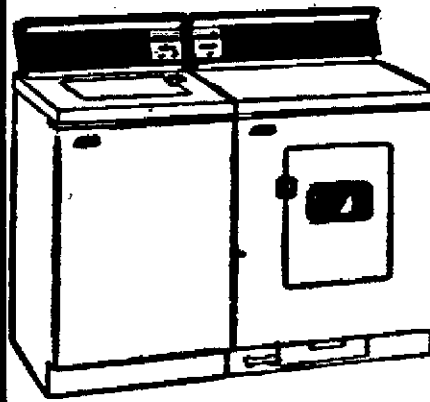

470 From Wisconsin

The present student body draws 470 students from Wisconsin, 271 from Illinois, 31 from Minnesota and 26 from Michigan. Other states are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, Washington, Washington, D.C., and Wyoming. Students from outside the United States come from Hawaii, Canada, Japan, Korea and Venezuela.

The total enrollment of this fall is 905 students, of which 867 are full course, and 38 are special students. Among the latter figure, are 18 who are taking adult evening courses.

Largest single area contributing to the student body is Appleton and nearby cities, 155 in number. Appleton leads the list with 86, with Menasha contributing 18, Neenah 19 and smaller numbers from other towns in the valley.

U. W. Professor Says:

Peace Possible if U. S. Takes Right Approach

Petrovich Says Russia Doesn't Want to Risk War

Peace with Soviet Russia is possible if the United States takes the right approach, Prof. Michael Petrovich, University of Wisconsin political scientist, said Thursday night.

He was third lecturer in a series of Soviet-American relations sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the Fox Cities vocational and adult schools.

Petrovich based his claim on three assumptions:

First, the Soviet leaders believe time is on their side and feel no need to go to war to achieve their ends.

Second, Russia believes she can compete with the United States to win friends in the world.

Third, Russia believes no body can win the next war and doesn't want to take the chance of risking conflict.

Need Time

Contrary to what people might think, communist leaders are extremely concerned about what their people think, Petrovich said. They need time to consolidate their economie position at home and raise their standard of living.

Petrovich offered an armed truce as the only kind of peace for which the world can hope.

The United States should take advantage of the stand-off to defeat the Soviets through economic and political means, he asserted.

Petrovich said Russia has recognized capitalism is here to stay for a long time and will be content to seek ways of destroying it short of war.

"As capitalists, we shouldn't mind a little competition," he declared.

No Supermen

Petrovich played down the idea that Soviet leaders are some kind of supermen.

"They are human beings with weaknesses of which we can take advantage," he stated.

He agreed that some striking material successes have been made under communism, but pointed out the Russian people still are underfed, underclothed and underhoused. The satellite countries are in even worse shape and will be a constant headache to Russia, he pointed out.

Personal Freedom

During a visit to Russia last year, Petrovich said he saw signs the communist regime is allowing more and more personal freedom. Although it isn't much compared to what the United States has, it still offers some hope for significant changes in the Soviet government.

He applauded Soviet economic and educational advances.

"The higher their standard of living and the better their education, the more likely the Russian people are to become unhappy with the government under which they are living," he declared.

5 Admit Damage To 33 Bee Hives

Brother, Sister Get Probation; Others With Records in Jail

Four boys and a girl this morning in municipal court admitted their part in a beer party which culminated in $400 damage to 33 bee hives on a town of Buchanan farm Saturday night.

They are Richard N. Mueller, 16, route 2, Hilbert; his sister, Cary H. Mueller, 19; Ronald Coonen, 19, 1073 W. Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna; Robert P. Cornelius, 19, 146 E. Third street, Kaukauna; and Merlin M. St. Germaine, 18, route 2, Hilbert.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg placed Mueller and his sister on probation to the state department of public welfare for the next three years and ordered them to pay a share of the damage.

Post Records
St. Germaine is on parole from Oregon on an indecent liberties charge. Coonen is on probation for forgery and petty larceny. Cornelius is on federal probation for transporting a stolen car across state lines. They were ordered held in the Outagamie county jail for a 2-week presentence investigation.

Richard P. Weyenberg, 21, 602 W. Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna, who drove the car with the nine youngsters in it during the beer party and hive damaging, admitted buying beer for the group. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail for contributing to the delinquency of four minors in the group—two 17-year-old boys, a 16-year-old boy and a 15-year-old girl. He also was ordered to pay a share of the hive damage.

Weyenberg recently was released from probation on a charge of disorderly conduct involving a girl and eight youths in a spack on the Calumet - Outagamie county line about a year ago.

Other Youngsters
Four other youngsters are being processed through the county welfare department for possible juvenile court appearance for their part in the beer party and hive damaging. They include two youths, aged 16 and 17, from Kaukauna, a rural Kaukauna youth, 16, and a 15-year-old Little Chute girl.

The youths were taken into custody Sunday night by Kaukauna police after they were seen buying a case of beer. Kaukauna police called Sher-

Goenen did say he's against construction of schools with frills and believes architects should be advised to cut all trim.

Gross Negligence in Fatal Crash, Jury Rules

Witness Says 50-Cent Bet Was Made But Driver of Death Car Denies It

A Clintonville youth drove a car in a deliberately reckless manner amounting to gross negligence, causing a crash in which Jay Suprise, 17, Bear Creek, died, a coroner's jury decided after an hour and 20 minutes deliberation Thursday.

One witness testified before Coroner Bernard H. Kemps that the half-mile trip from Bear Creek side street on Highway 76 and into a tree on Oct. 12 was the result of a 50-cent bet between Allan D. Sanders, 20, Clintonville, the driver, and Suprise. Sanders denied such a bet was made, but did say the fast ride resulted after Suprise claimed his father's 1958 car could go faster than the 1958 model driven by Sanders and owned by Kenneth B. Hallock, 25, 154 McKinley street, Clintonville. County police today said they have asked that a complaint charging negligent homicide be issued against Sanders. Dist. Atty. George Greisch said he will not issue a complaint until he has checked the facts. He declined to estimate how long it would take.

Hallock was asleep on the back seat at the time of the crash. He was slightly injured.

Gary Lehman, Bear Creek, his car went over the railroad tracks and the driver was killed. The car left skid marks of 72 feet, before it broke off a utility pole, then 24 feet to a tree more than three feet in diameter and bounced 51 feet off the tree. The impact tore bark off the tree for about three-fourths its circumference.

Speed limit in the village is 25 miles an hour. Hallock testified that when Sanders testified he lost control after the car banged over the dip. The car left skid marks of 72 feet, before it broke off a utility pole, then 24 feet to a tree more than three feet in diameter and bounced 51 feet off the tree. The impact tore bark off the tree for about three-fourths its circumference.

Lehman told the jury he witnessed the bet in a Bear Creek restaurant. Walter George Else estimated Leish, route 1, Hortonville, Planner, 317 S. Elm street, vended by the "jinx," added Sanders hit about 80 miles an hour behind the Hallock car when Eighth street, Kaukauna.

AHS Students Perform Well in First-Act

A comedy with plenty of laughs was "The Jinx from Alabama," presented to the AHS faculty, was the opening play of the year. Mrs. Gladys Smith, new

This comedy was well handled by a cast which made the marking the crash. He could most of each clever situation and each meaningful line as the "Jinx from Alabama" used superstition upon superstition to thwart the wedding plans of her cousin, Anne Outagamie; Malcolm H. True, Armstrong, black cats running in front of people, hats on beds, broken mirrors and other superstitions, real or imaginary. The "jinx," added suspense and interest as the plot developed.

Confesses He Strangled 3 In California

found his fourth intended victim holding the gun on him. The slender, sandy-haired former convict, who served prison terms in New York and Colorado for kidnapping and rape, confessed after two days' questioning and a lie-detector test, said Chief Investigator Joel Hays of the Orange county district attorney's office.

The victims died 15, 8 and 3 months ago in this order, as Hays quoted Glatman's confession:

"Mrs. Dull, who was assaulted in his apartment after a date to shoot pin-up pictures of her Aug. 1, 1957. He strangled her on the desert near Indio, about 85 miles east of here, and buried her in a shallow, sandy grave.

Posing as "George Williams," a Pasadena plumber, Glatman dated Mrs. Bridgeford through a Los Angeles lonely hearts club last March 8. With the rope he ended her life south of Escondido.

Last July 23 he called on Miss Mercado, 24, through a modeling advertisement. He spent the night in the apartment, then forced her to walk to his car.

"I didn't want to kill her," Glatman told police. "She was the one I really liked. So I told her we were going out to a deserted spot where he wouldn't be bothered while I took more pictures. We drove out to the Escondido district. I tried and tried to figure out how to keep from killing her. But I couldn't come up with any answer, so I got out the rope and did it the same way I did the others. I piled some brush and debris on her body and left her there.

Still badly bruised, Miss Vigil told of her near-fatal date with Glatman:

"I did not become alarmed until we entered the Santa Ana freeway and he began driving at a tremendous speed. He wouldn't answer my questions or even look at me.

"We eventually reached a lonely section and he turned off into a little tiny side road.

"Suddenly he pulled out a gun and pointed it at me. Instinctively I grabbed it on the muzzle.

"Then, although I still held the gun, and was screaming, he picked up a piece of rope from the seat and tried to force my other hand in back of me. 'Just do as I tell you and you won't get hurt,' he said.

"I knew, however, that he would kill me and I wouldn't let go of the gun. Somehow, with the hand that was in back here, I opened the door on my side and we both fell out onto the street.

"We rolled over and over on the shoulder of the road. Cars, millions of cars, passed, but none would stop.

"I bit my wrist and he cried out, then suddenly I found I had the gun in my hand. I turned it around and pointed it at him.

"If I had known how to fire it, I believe I could have killed him. But he just stood there and watched me and after a while the police came."

Navy Missile Fired In Third Test Shot

Point Mugu, Calif. — One of the navy's potent Regulus II missiles whisked about 290 miles to a dry lake near Tonopah, Nev., yesterday.

It was the third announced firing of the missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, from the main pad at the naval air missile test center here.

Los Angeles City Health Officer Dr. George M. Uhl is pictured beside an air sampler on the roof of the health department headquarters as he checked the unusual radioactivity in southern California atmosphere Thursday. He said the amount of radioactivity would go 20 per cent above the accepted safe level for human consumption over a period of months if the condition persisted.

Russia Again Demands End of Nuclear Tests

gardless of whether a control system is approved.

The United States and Britain announced a conditional one-year suspension of their tests, effective last midnight. The condition was that Russia cease firing nuclear explosives too.

Up to Russians
"The west will not resume testing unless the Russians do so first," a western delegate said. "This could lead to the test suspension starting informally, with a whimper instead of a bang."

Heading the delegations are Ambassador James J. Wadsworth of the United States, Tsarapkin of the Soviet Union and Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore of Britain.

New Soviet notes sent to the western powers yesterday suggested that Sec. of State Dulles, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and British Foreign Sec. Selwyn Lloyd sit in later to speed agreement.

The Russians have been testing this fall at their Arctic proving grounds. U. S. scientists, racing against a diplomatic deadline, wound up an intensive series of shots yesterday at the Nevada test site. Britain has fired five devices in the Pacific since last spring.

The west considers any unlimited commitment to stop tests would seriously threaten the security of the free world unless it was accompanied by a foolproof system for detecting violations. It proposed the Russians join in a one-year suspension while an agreement was negotiated.

U. S. Employee List Reduced

Washington — The number of federal employees dropped 17,441 in September as compared with August, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) reported today.

Byrd, chairman of the senate - house committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures, listed 2,356-493 on the government's civilian payroll last month as compared with 2,373,934 in August.

The number of employees also was 9,905 below the 2,366,398 total in September, 1957. Federal civilian agencies the collision and crash of two showed a decline of 13,093 private planes over Sun Val workers in September as compared with the previous month while the defense department had a decrease of 4,348.

The biggest decreases were in London, where he was reported by the agriculture department. 6,599, and the interior department. 3,098. These were largely seasonal, dental college and fulfill his Byrd said.

Seek to Avert Strike on Newspapers

New York — Federal mediators have entered a contract dispute between the American Newspaper Guild and New York's seven major daily newspapers, seeking to avert a strike threatened for midnight tonight.

Contract talks resume today between the Guild and the Times, Herald Tribune, Daily News, Mirror, World-Telegram and Sun, Journal-American, and Post.

Joint negotiations between the Guild and the Publishers association of New York City, representing the seven dailies, broke down on Sept. 18. Since then the guild has been negotiating with each paper separately.

Donald R. McVay, executive secretary of the Publishers association, said the seven dailies would suspend publication if one newspaper is unable to publish because craft unionists refuse to cross guild picket lines.

Guild officials were not immediately available for comment.

The guild, representing about 6,200 editorial and commercial employees, mainly seeks higher wages and improved pension and welfare benefits.

The newspapers have offered a contract package averaging $5 weekly per employee over a 2-year period.

The guild asked a 10 per cent wage increase, a 5 per cent welfare program, a shorter work week and other improvements at the start of negotiations.

According to the Publishers association, the current wages for reporters and photographers start at $78.50 to $84.50 a week at the seven newspapers and reach a top minimum of $148.50 to $151.50 after six years.

Air Force Officials Deny Man Could Have Triggered H-Bomb

London — U.S. Air Force authorities today denied reports that a deranged American airman could have set off an H-bomb trigger.

The denial was prompted by a story in one British paper this morning on the incident involving Sgt. Leander V. Cunningham, 41, who barricaded himself into a supply room at Sculthorpe, a U.S. bomber base, and threatened to shoot himself.

The Daily Herald headlined its story "H-bomb Man Amok — I'll Blow You All to Hell" and reported Cunningham threatened to fire his .45 pistol into an H-bomb trigger.

Officials at the base denied any nuclear triggers were stored in the building. They said it was used for drying parachutes.

Actress, Husband Back For Funeral of Son, 19

Los Angeles — Actress Maureen O'Sullivan and her husband, John Farrow, flew into Los Angeles today from London to arrange for the funeral of their eldest son, Michael D. V. Farrow, 19.

The youth was one of three persons killed Wednesday in the collision and crash of two private planes over Sun Valley, near here. His father said in London he was unaware the boy was taking flying lessons.

The Farrowes have been living in London, where he was reported by the agriculture department. 6,599, and the interior department. 3,098. These were largely seasonal, dental college and fulfill his Byrd said.

Be Sure to Vote Tuesday

Those Americans who take seriously their responsibilities as citizens will take a few minutes each next Tuesday to vote in what is usually referred to as an "off year" election. The term means simply that the presidency is not at stake; however, as many members of the House of Representatives and the Senate will be named as in a "presidential" election.

This election is important. It may be the most important election the United States will hold during this decade. The choice in Wisconsin is between the Republican and Democratic candidates for 16 national, state and county offices. The most important of these are governor, United States senator and representative in Congress.

All public offices are important, of course, but those mentioned are the key ones. If anyone could name the successful candidates for those offices it would not be difficult to fill in the winners for most of the others. Having named the successful state, one should be able to predict with some accuracy the kind of government he would be living under during the two years ahead.

But no one has the information necessary to work out the results of next Tuesday's election and no one will have it until the voters have registered their wishes at the polls and until the ballots have been counted. And those going to the polls will not decide alone. A factor as important as the marks on the ballot will be the negative effect of those who fail to go. Every vote is important. One vote counts as much as another. Many a governor has been elected by a margin representing less than one vote per precinct in his state. The votes for important offices are not unknown.

The people of the United States are in a state of unrest which may well be reflected in the outcome of the election. The war of nerves which has been carried out against them by Russia in the form of a cold war has had its effect on everyone in this country. Many people are weary of this trouble and may be seeking relief at the polls. Others will realize that the outcome of this cold war is the most important thing to be considered during the lifetimes of most of us, and they will seek the steadiest and most careful hands for the important government offices. The persons elected to office next Tuesday will have responsibilities beyond those given to people in similar posts in the past.

The president of the United States comes close to being the fellow "with the whole world in his hands" and nothing could be more important than the choice of those elected to federal, state and county offices who may in some measure be called on to support the president in his daily tasks.

A Good Driver Training Program

The Appleton Vocational and Adult School has issued a report on the driver training course it offered for the first time this summer. The vocational school course was developed in response to a strong demand for behind-the-wheel driver training for high school students here. In many other communities this training is offered in the high school, and while such courses are strongly backed by safety organizations they are quite expensive and furthermore compete with other high school courses and activities for the students' time.

Under the Appleton plan students receive classroom instruction in safe driving at the high school, and can get behind-the-wheel training during the summer through the vocational school. This summer 37 high school students took advantage of this opportunity and completed the course; in addition 145 adults completed it. Thus 182 people now driving automobiles on Appleton's streets have had the benefit of qualified instruction in how to operate a motor vehicle.

Of even more interest, perhaps, are the figures on the cost of the program. The vocational school's out-of-pocket expenses totalled $3,910 while income from student fees ($10 for high school students, $15 for adults and $25 for non-residents) was $2,719. Thus the net cost to the school — and to the taxpayers — was $1,190 or $6.54 per student. This is certainly a very small investment for the taxpayers to make in producing safer drivers in our community.

It is undoubtedly true that if a behind-the-wheel course were offered at the high school during regular school hours substantially more students would take advantage of it. But it would also cost a lot more money, and we think there is a limit to what the community can spend to force or persuade young people to learn things they shouldn't have to be forced or persuaded to learn. Certainly the young people who took the course this summer — and we hope there will be many more of them in future years — showed by their willingness to take time out during their vacations and to pay the $10 fee that they have a sincere interest in becoming good drivers, and thus undoubtedly got a lot more out of the course than had they simply been pushed into it.

Eventually, we think, the state should see to it that such courses are available everywhere, and then require a certificate of graduation from such a course before a driver's license will be issued. Driving a motor vehicle is a privilege, and everyone — adults and young people alike — should be required to put forth some effort and time in learning how to drive properly before being permitted to go out on the highway at the wheel of an automobile which, after all, is one of our most lethal weapons.

Double Standard Discipline

The perplexing problem of the army's ESPP can be reduced, it seems to us, to simpler dimensions than have been advanced to date.

ESPP stands for enlisted scientific and professional personnel. It is the army's latest product of the times and members, thereof, are simply young scientists drafted into the army and assigned work of a scientific nature.

It develops, however, that these gifted young men are somewhat less than enthusiastic over army regulations. In the glare of national publicity, the question arises should the ESPPs be soldiers first and scientists second, or vice versa?

Perhaps because of laboratory specialization, perhaps because of their unique position in the service, army discipline has suffered where the young scientists are concerned. One officer has said their military shortcomings include failure to salute, whistling at and hazing non-coms, officers and other soldiers and a general disregard for military bearing and courtesy.

It should be remembered that these men, regardless of ability, still wear the army cloth. The uniform, it seems to us, is an equalizer of a sort. The man who is trained in the use of the test tube should be made to abide by the same set of restrictions that guide the life of the humble infantryman.

As we see it, there can be no double standard when it comes to common military discipline. The infantryman in the field and the soldier working in a laboratory function in widely separated fields of military endeavor. Yet, so do the company clerk and the BAR triggerman. And these latter two are bound inexorably by the rein of discipline.

Training films, saluting, close order drill may seem picayune to a young man whose mind understands complicated formulas and complex mathematical equations. Why, he might ask himself, am I here? Am I not a special case? Am I not providing services the ordinary man could never provide?

These are questions the young scientist-soldier has a right to ask. They are, probably, perfectly normal.

We think, however, that the infantryman, his stomach quaking as he plods toward the never-never land of combat, provides something of a special service as well.

There is a place — a need — for the test tube and the rifle in the military but the human element involved in both must be treated with care. A GI is a GI whether his post is a laboratory in New Jersey or a foxhole on the main line of resistance. The ESPPs are essential but they are soldiers nonetheless.

New Laws Don't Aid Employment for Aged

From The Indianapolis News

The attitude of too many business and industrial firms toward the employment of older persons is short-sighted and wasteful of one of the nation's most valuable resources — its manpower.

causing increasing concern. And as is customary in the United States, the reaction in some quarters is to "pass a law."

So, in New York now, there is a law which prohibits employers even from asking the age of a job applicant. And thus government regulation encroaches even further into an area where it has no business.

This is not a matter to be solved by government interference in the operation of private enterprise. It is one that can — and eventually will — be worked out on a basis of voluntary cooperation.

The rapidly growing population of the United States is creating a demand for additional labor force and much of the supply must be found among those over 45.

Intelligent management is beginning to realize that by refusing to employ older workers it is discarding help that is at the peak of training and mental fitness.

The prospects for employment of older persons are growing brighter and will continue to grow brighter. The process should not be slowed and confused by unwarranted new laws.

Young America Socially Wise But Takes Too Much for Granted

From The Greensboro, N. C., News

"A couple of young teenagers came to visit with their folks this past Sunday," Sylvia Porter confided the other day, "and the youngsters stayed for what was to be a typically light Sunday evening snack."

You know what happened: "When those kids got up from the table, there wasn't a leftover in our kitchen. In addition, we had used up three half-eaten bags of potato chips, we were out of peanuts and cokes."

The perceptive Miss Porter used this story to explain why you ought to buy food stocks — or something like that; but what we'd like to know is this: How can the average American family afford to feed this new race of young giants?

Riding through the University of North Carolina campus one morning last week, we noticed the expanding size and height of today's young lions. They are several inches taller, on an average, than their fathers or grandfathers. Most of them are healthy, extroverted and well-adjusted.

One of the salient features of today's teenager, it seems to us, is self-assurance and ease among elders. We can remember when meeting a roomful of company was a painful process. And being thrown with an older person in a conversation was anathema.

Today's youth takes it all in stride. The Greensboro teenagers who conversed with the bank robber while he held a knife in their backs offer a good example. Educational emphasis today undoubtedly puts well-roundedness and adaptability in high priority.

If young America grows larger, more handsome and more able to cope with the everyday social world, we wonder if it also grows wiser.

Has the affluent America of the post-war years reared a generation too far removed from the privation and challenge of the depression-ridden thirties or the war-torn forties? Will the young lions take too much for granted, assuming that the unusual material wealth of their lives is normal, rather than the stunning exception in today's world?

America of today puts an amazing emphasis on packaging the product — any product — and sometimes far too little on the content.

Today's young lions should take the advice Adlai Stevenson gave his son Adlai, Jr., who was turned down by Princeton and finally made it at Harvard. The New Yorker asked Adlai, Jr., whether his father ever gave him and his brothers any advice about education. The boy replied that he did. "Father often advised us about our education," he said. "but it always consisted of only three words. They were: Read, read, read."

Fire Destroys Seymour Structure

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Nov. 1, 1879.

Seymour — We regret to state that Messrs. D. Hammel and company's steam dry house was burned on Friday, together with about 40,000 heading, involving a loss of over $2,000 with no insurance.

The dry house was complete in every respect, had six rooms heated by steam from the adjacent factory. The fire took either from the sparks of a passing locomotive or from the factory stack. The fire was too advanced by the time it was discovered to save the structure. Through the earnest efforts of workmen and citizens, the factory was saved, although it was on fire several times from the showers of cinders.

Mr. Timothy Case of the Green Bay and Western railway promptly sent a locomotive and flat car with the steam fire engine from Fort

This Evening Is for Fun for The Children

Editors, Post-Crescent:

I understand another phase of childhood days is being discarded. Halloween eve, that magic time of witches and goblins, masks and pumpkins, and "trick or treat" is being taken away from the little ones, and in its place, a can is placed for the collection of pennies for needy children in Europe.

I have all the sympathy in the world for these children, and contribute through the year to various organizations for these children. However, I resent these so-called adults, who can't stand

Under the Capitol Dome

Few Devout Followers Of Leading Contenders

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The great politicians of this state in its past usually possessed a personal dynamism that complemented their programs of action and the particular issues upon which they stood in their competition with rivals.

The campaign now closing has brought reminders that none of the principal contenders for high place has shown that capacity for personal leadership and the attraction of a devoted following that was exhibited by such men as the LaFollettes, or Blaine, or Goodland, or McCarthy.

The two most prominent men now in the state, Gov. Thomson of the Republican ticket, and William Proxmire of the Democratic ticket, have as much experience and acquaintance in the state as most of their most successful predecessors had in mid-career.

But they cannot be described as strong personalities. They have not brought to their sides those battalions of admirers and dedicated followers who provided the sinew of the campaigns of the previous "greats."

PERSONALITIES

Gov. Thomson, particularly, stands out in this respect. He has had a longer service in modern Republican party affairs than anyone now conspicuous within its ranks. But he has found it hard to make close friends. Men find him cold and dispassionate. There are some influential people who under all normal circumstances would be powerful allies, but who to see children having a little innocent fun, exploiting the "children's eve" to collect, at most, an insignificant amount of money for still another charity.

I know many others share my feelings, and would gladly contribute to their cause any other time. But to take this night away from the little ones, to have them go out collecting, is to me, disgusting.

After all, "the poor you will always have with you," but the magic of childhood is gone by, much too soon.

tend to be indifferent and inactive because they have not been able to develop that affectionate regard which is the hall-mark of the successful political personality and, if not essential, at the least infinitely valuable.

There also are men who count themselves as enemies of Thomson for reasons wholly divorced from ideology, but directly related to personal frictions.

Much the same can be said about Sen. Proxmire. He is what is known as a "loner," a word also frequently applied to Thomson. Around Madison there are men and women who agree wholeheartedly with Proxmire's positions and principles who are quite indifferent toward him as a man. It may be that the causes for the impersonal attitudes of Thomson and Proxmire are the same. They have been so absorbed in the exacting, enervating demands of their political careers that they have had little time to spare for human relations — or to learn about them.

Roland Steinle, the Republican nominee for senator, and Gaylord Nelson, the Democratic nominee for governor, are far less known. They have scarcely established themselves, in their brief campaign experiences.

THE OTHERS

Yet observers who have studied the campaign with some care are surprised to find that both of them are warm and friendly men and that they have strong attachments around the state and especially in the localities where they are best known.

Nelson is one of the most popular men around Madison and in the legislature where he has served. Steinle is one of the best liked men in the public life of Milwaukee, as he showed several times in being elected in judicial contests where the circumstances on the record were unfavorable.

There is another curious parallel in this situation. Nelson and Steinle were asked to run, in the sense that representative forces in their respective parties backed them. Proxmire and Thomson got where they are by their own resolute, plodding and long-range patience and determination.

Newspapers Still Favorite Reading Matter

From The Boston Chronicle

Reading newspapers is still the favorite leisure time occupation of Americans, according to a survey made by Sindlinger and a company, Ridley Park, Pa. Newspaper reading topped every other item in the 9-category survey made by the research analysts.

Researchers found that during one week 100,219,000 persons read newspapers. The next closest category was television which had 83,078,000 viewers. Radio was third with 75,571,000 listeners. Surprisingly, more persons went to the movies — 41,500,000 — than the combined number of persons who showed an interest in sports. 14,764,000 who participated and 8,757,000 who paid as spectators.

The survey again shows that the daily newspaper has advantages which no other medium of communication can match.

The daily newspaper is a complete package for which readers have found no substitute.

Despite competition from other media, newspaper reading is increasing, rather than dropping.

KHS Harriers To Compete in State Tourney

Ghosts Scheduled To Participate in Medium School Event

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school Harriers will wind up action Saturday competing at Hartford in the state tournament.

The team ran up an impressive record by taking six straight dual or triangular meets during the regular season but last week at Shawano, it failed to come up with its usual balanced scoring and finished third behind Neenah and Shawano.

The Hartford meet is run in three brackets and about 50 teams are expected. Smaller schools compete at 10:30 a.m., while medium sized schools, such as Kaukauna, are scheduled to run at 11 a.m. and the larger schools at 11:30 a.m. Each school will have seven runners in a meet.

Course Record

The Hartford course is laid out on the municipal golf course in that municipality and covers two and two-tenths miles. The record for the distance was set in 1952 by Leonard DePalma of Whitefish Bay who covered the distance in 10:48.3.

The winning team in each division receives a trophy for the school and the first ten men crossing the line in each division receive individual medals. This will be the forty-sixth running of the event.

Coach Harold Kobin is expected to take a few additional boys to the meet and will select his starters from Captain Harry Gast, Bruce Vanervenoven, Roger Nussbaum, Merle Hammond, Ed Vanden Heuvel, Milo Straus, Jerry Jakl, Norman Mieke and Ron Busse.

Cash Register Taken in Breakin Found by Police

Kimberly — A cash register reported missing in a break-in at Kimberly Floral in September was found Wednesday on property adjacent to the floral shop by youngsters playing on the river bank, according to Quentin Williams, Kimberly police chief.

All money had been removed from the till but keys to other buildings and cards, receipts and other papers were left in the safe. About $75 was in the cash register at the time the greenhouse door was forced and the safe stolen.

Police had searched the area where the safe was found but because of heavy foliage on the underbrush failed to notice the safe. Now that leaves have fallen from the bushes, the safe was spotted, said the chief. The cash register can be cleaned up and reused.

Interest Lags At 1st Meeting Of Cage League

Kaukauna — Poor representation at the initial meeting to organize a City Basketball league has forced James Gertz, recreation director, to schedule another meeting for 7 p.m. Monday in the recreation office.

Three teams with sponsors attended the first session and one group, composed of high school instructors, expressed desire to enter a team but as yet had no sponsor. In previous years the league operated with six teams and two more are needed to help balance the schedule, accordance to the director.

Games are played on Sunday afternoons at the high school gym with the first contests scheduled Nov. 23. Play will then continue each Sunday until the middle of February with a possible interruption for the Christmas and New Year's weekend.

Sponsors, captains and players are asked to attend Monday's meeting.

Tax Claim Must be Made by Next Monday

Washington — Taxpayers eligible to deduct educational expenses incurred in 1954 have until Monday to claim this tax benefit.

The internal revenue service liberalized its regulations last April 5 to help school teachers and others who take educational courses to better fit themselves for their jobs or to meet the requirements of their employers.

Normally the 4-year period for claiming educational expenses for 1954 would have expired April 15. However, the deadline was extended to Nov. 3.

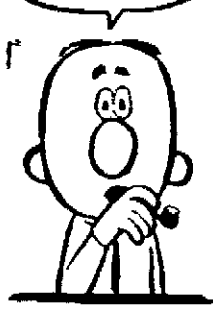

Eligible taxpayers can deduct direct costs of education and necessary expenses for travel, meals and lodgings while taking courses. Expenses of courses taken to qualify for a new job or a substantial promotion are not deductible.

To claim a 1954 deduction, a taxpayer must file an amended individual income tax return for that year or a Form 943 refund claim.

Deductible expenses for 1955 can be claimed through next April 15, the regular income tax filing deadline.

Build Up Cooperatives, Dairy Farmers Told

Must be Able to Meet Competition,
Speaker Tells State Co-op Council

BY RAY PAGE

Post-Crescent News Service

Madison — Dairy farmers were urged to reorganize and strengthen their cooperatives by Dr. George F. Baumeister, Consolidated Badger Co-op adviser.

Baumeister spoke at the 30th anniversary get-together of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperative. At the banquet in the evening he was one of five men who received formal recognition for outstanding services to rural life and agriculture.

"We've got to meet competition with competition," Baumeister declared. "If we don't, we will die of sleeping sickness."

Here was a man who knew what he was talking about. Back in the 30's, when he was county agent at Shawano, Baumeister talked farmers into organizing the Consolidated Badger Cooperative.

Today Consolidated Badger is one of the biggest and most successful milk processing and marketing cooperatives in the country. Baumeister is remembered, too, for helping to get the tri-county breeders off the ground a few years later. Now, as Badger Breeders, it is the biggest artificial insemination cooperative in the world.

Special Assistant Baumeister left Shawano to become special assistant to agricultural extension at the University of Wisconsin. He retired this year, but is keeping in trim as a consultant for Consolidated Badger.

The theme of the conference concerned challenges to cooperatives — credit, contracts, customers and consolidation. The meeting of the dairy section Thursday afternoon was about consolidation.

"Let's start big, and think big," Baumeister urged.

Cooperatives today must cover a wide area if they are going to get anywhere, he declared. He said it is a mistake to form one small co-op here, another there, and still more elsewhere.

"Then you are going to have a job to get them together on one big marketing program," Baumeister remarked.

Praises Agencies Agricultural extension specialists and agents have an important role in cooperative marketing. Baumeister applauded the county agents and who helped organize the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing cooperative on a big scale last year.

"We should have an open-minded attitude on the part of managers and directors toward mergers of cooperatives," he continued. Outmoded methods, have no place today when efficiency is so important.

There was more about efficiency in marketing and processing from Dr. Charles E. French, agricultural economics professor at Purdue University.

Copy Competitors Cooperatives can improve their operations, French advised, by copying their competitors. Machinery often will help, but here it is important to realize that small plants usually cannot afford to re-equip their physical setup.

"Consolidations will make for more efficiency," French declared.

A suggestion about brand names was made by Dr. Hugh L. Cook, University of Wisconsin agricultural economist. He pointed out, however, that brand names will make little impact on the buying public without extensive advertising and promotion, and that requires a big organization.

Leaf Mulching Machine Helps Solve Some Village Problems

Kimberly — Eugene Hietpas, Kimberly street commissioner, Thursday advised residents it would no longer be necessary for them to burn leaves as the new leaf mulcher has arrived and been put into use.

The machine, costing $3,000, works like a giant vacuum cleaner, picking up the leaves and mulching them before being blown into a truck used to tow the machine. The unit picks up leaves from roadways and curbs and also can be used to pick up leaves raked into piles on terraces.

Crews are also busy picking up leaves from terraces using forks to throw onto other village trucks for hauling away. Crews work in different sections each day, and will continue until the major portion of the leaves have been cleared out.

Quentin Williams, police chief, requested parents to advise children not to try burning the leaves. Dry conditions and burning leaves wafted by winds create a serious fire threat, warned the chief. The police department was forced to help extinguish a leaf fire the other day which started on property of a resident who was not home when the fire started. It was believed to have started from flying sparks from another fire.

American Can Receives Aluminum Order From Big Sardine Packer

San Francisco — American Can company is producing aluminum cans for food. An American Can official here said the company has an initial order from Franco-Italian Packing company, San Pedro, Calif., for 100,000 6-ounce aluminum sardine cans a day.

The cans are being produced at American's Wilmington, Calif., plant. Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical corporation is producing the aluminum at Trentwood, Wash.

The cost of aluminum cans is greater than ordinary tinplate cans, Mardesich said—"but we expect to make up the difference through savings in shipping costs."

Potato Men End Annual State Show

Seek Organization To Combat Severe Price Depression

Antigo — Some 1,000 potato growers in the state gathered here to look over $500,000 worth of new machinery, admire prize specimens of their product and bemoan low prices.

The annual 3-day state potato show ended at the high school gymnasium-auditorium Thursday night with a portion of the growers determined to organize to level off any future depression of potato prices.

Overproduction this year has dropped prices to nearly all-time lows. Changing market philosophies are forcing a new look at the techniques of getting the product to the consumer.

In May growers representing some 3,000 acres near here organized the Antigo Potato Growers, Inc.

Thursday night they met with bag and fertilizer industry representatives to make provisions for single brand marketing.

Super Market Demands The growth of the supermarket has taken the carload purchase of potatoes out of the picture. The markets are looking for a steady flow of uniform quality potatoes, conveniently packaged and delivered in handy amounts.

The Antigo growers are aiming to meet this demand. Experts from the University of Wisconsin also met with them to give them an insight into the problem.

Two Langlade county brothers proved to be the best potato growers in the state.

Greek Mythology Points to Prometheus as Great Hero

BY RAMON COFFMAN

Among all the heroes of ancient Greece, the most important was Prometheus (pronounced pro-ME-the-us).

The Greeks were far from clear in their own minds about the origin of the human race. There were some among them who said that people simply had "grown up" without any special time of starting as a species.

Other Greeks said that the first man was created by Prometheus, and the first woman by Hephaestus, a son of Zeus who was called the god of metalworking.

Aside from any belief in Prometheus as the maker of the first man, the Greeks honored him as friend of mankind. The storytellers declared that Zeus had forbidden anyone to give fire to mortals, but that Prometheus found a way.

Prometheus knew about the flames which burned on Mount Olympus, home of the gods. Secretly he went there and carried a burning brand to the world below. From that time onward, people enjoyed the blessing of fire.

Learning of this deed, Zeus grew angry. He ordered Prometheus to be placed on Mount Caucasus, and to be kept there in chains.

The hero suffered from the attacks of a large bird of the eagle family. For years he was in cruel torment. Then came another hero to the rescue. This was Hercules (written "Heracles" by the Greeks. Hercules fitted an arrow to his bow, and shot the bird. Then he broke the chains and set Prometheus free.

Zeus learned of the event, but his anger had cooled and he allowed Prometheus to remain free.

At this time Hercules was performing important labors. Prometheus thanked him for his kindness, and told him the best way to obtain "the golden apples."

Pope John Dedicated To Church as Youth heads of state with whom he had long years of contact as a representative of Vatican diplomacy.

A quality of quasi-joyalty common to his native Bergamo province more than anything else immediately marks the difference between Pope John and his predecessor, the aristocratic Roman who for 19 years guided the church through an extremely difficult war and postwar period.

Few men looked less alike: Pius, slender, frail, ascetic; John, a 210-pounder with a robustness belying his years, a heritage of his peasant background.

12 Children in Family

But there are many similarities: Dedication to the church from early life, intimate experience with Vatican administration, years in the church's diplomatic service, association with foreign government heads as a papal ambassador, a deep awareness of communism's threat to Catholicism, staunch defenders of morality, devotion to study, research and scholarship.

The new pope was one of twelve children, his father a sharecropper. When Angelo was born Nov. 25, 1881, sharp winds and chilling rain beat against the old stone house that had been the Roncalli family homestead for centuries.

In 1953, when he became patriarch of Venice, the future pope told his parishioners:

"I was born of poor parents. Providence took me from my native hamlet and led me to travel the roads of the world, from east to west, putting me in contact with the most serious social and political problems."

Had Great Talents

"Now... my long experience has led me to Venice... don't look at your patriotic feelings."

Bernard Checkal, 23, Phlox, was crowned the sweepstakes winner. His brother, John 13, took the junior division sweepstakes and two reserve ribbons. They are the sons of Fred Checkal, who operates a 400-acre farm.

With potato prices ranging from less than $1.25 per hundredweight to $2 for the best, interest in the $500,000 machinery display was academic only.

The Potato Growers' association will meet within two weeks to take a stand on the water and irrigation problem. It plans to hold its annual meeting in Antigo, Dec. 3.

It is expected Antigo again will be chosen for the state potato show in 1959. It has been here for the last three or four years.

Carpet Proves Versatility Throughout Entire House

Quality Workmanship
★ Starting Our 30th Year
723 E. Circle Ph. 4-3891

When a pianist can learn how to play a trumpet or trombone as well as he pounds the ivories on the baby grand, he's described as "doubling in brass."
When one home furnishings item—carpet—can be used in practically every room in the house, it not only doubles in brass, it's a veritable "one-man band."

It also fits into any functional area, since the more a room is used, the more carpet's practical benefits shine forth.
Making a home attractive starts at the front door, and here carpet is invaluable in adding beauty. What better way to make your entrance-way say "welcome" than to have it carpeted? A carpet or rug gives an entrance or hallway a dressed-up atmosphere which is instantly noticeable.
When carpet is used in a living room, there is more than beauty underfoot. The living room these days is often used by the family. Gone are the days of the shades - drawn, windows - closed parlor which was occupied only for state occasions.
And when a family gathers in a room, there is a special need for carpet's advantages of warmth and comfort, safety and ease of care. Children play on the soft, comfortable floor, and the room still looks decorative enough for entertaining by the adults.
Bedroom Carpet
Bedrooms, too, call for carpet, since no one wants to limit the idea of comfort to one room in a house. Warmth and soft textures of carpet are kind to bare feet; appealing colors add beauty to a bedroom.
Carpet also stills noises, thus creating the restful atmosphere and quiet that is especially desirable in this room.
In any room where there is great activity, carpet is an efficient furnishing in making a home quieter. This might apply especially to a family room, a TV room or to a dining room. All the noises of a home are subdued when carpet is on the floor.
Other home areas should be carpeted for safety's sake. Stairways, hallways and entrance areas should receive prime consideration in this respect.

If there are children in a home, carpet is a protective as well as a decorative feature. It literally provides a soft "blanket" underfoot and holds warmth in a room. And mothers will always appreciate the fact that carpet is easy to care for in a nursery or playroom.
Budget Plan
Though carpet is extended throughout a house, there need be no problem in deciding which area to carpet first. Today's budget plan makes it possible for even the growing family to take full advantage of carpet's benefit immediately.

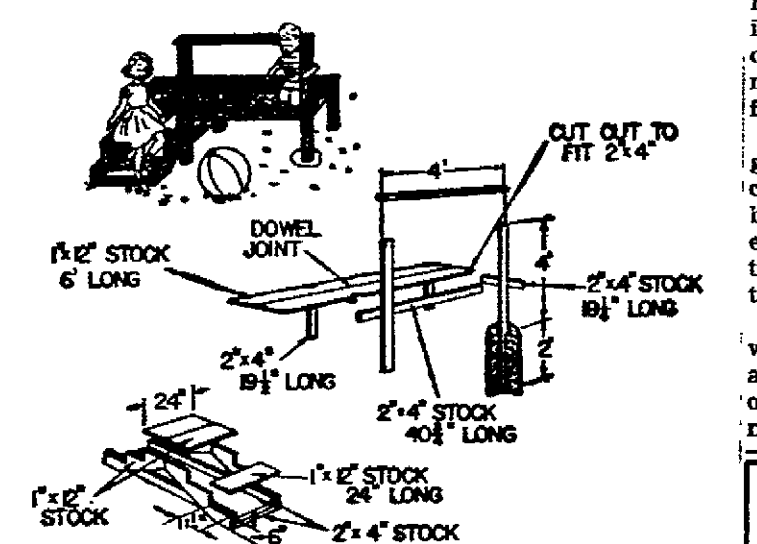

For homes with an "open" design, popular in modern design, carpet is desirable throughout an area. Thus, the living room and dining room combined in an L shape, or the combination dining room-family room, could be carpeted for a sense of unity and unbroken lines throughout.
By taking advantage of budget plans and carpeting the entire area, homemakers can plan the whole decorating scheme at once and be assured of beautiful co-ordination in color and style.
And the family will be able to enjoy the beauty and comfort of carpet without delay.

Kiln-Dried Wood Popular

Paste Wax Keeps
Floors in Top Shape;
Don't Use Water

Excellent kiln-dried wood is widely used in new homes being built today. However, even top - quality hardwood sometimes will shrink slightly, causing a minute separation between floor boards.
A good application of paste wax is recommended on all new wood floors to protect the beauty and prolong the life of the material.
A good grade of polishing wax, available in both liquid and paste form, is recommended for this purpose. Polishing wax is easily identified by its naphtha-type odor. A high gloss can be produced through buffing by hand or machine. It is important to keep in mind that this type of polishing wax is suitable for all types of floors except asphalt tile.
The liquid type of wax is often preferred for regular maintenance since it removes dirt, scuff marks and grease, leaving a protective wax coating. The frequency of application depends upon how much wear there is on the floor.
If soiled to an excessive degree, hardwood floors may be cleaned with mineral spirits, benzine, or some of the cleaners especially designed for this purpose. Never use water on wood floors.
After considerable wear, where scratching, staining and other disfiguration has occurred, hardwood floors may be returned to a new state by sanding and refinishing.

To safeguard floor finish and prevent indentations, install furniture rests attached to the bottom of furniture legs to distribute the weight of heavy pieces evenly.

Honeck Asks for McCauley for His Opinion on Ad

Madison — Atty. Gen. Honeck asked the Milwaukee county district attorney Wednesday to form his own conclusions before seeking an opinion on a possible violation of the state corrupt practices act by the Allen - Bradley Co., Milwaukee.

William J. McCauley, the Milwaukee prosecutor, had asked Honeck's opinion on whether the company, in placing an advertisement in Milwaukee newspapers, entitled "Your Freedom is Not a Political Issue," violated the act which prohibits a corporation from spending money for political purposes.
Honeck said he was uncertain after reading McCauley's letter what conclusions the latter had reached, and it was a long standing policy of his office to have such conclusions before it rendered an opinion.
Complaint has been filed with the Dane county district attorney by Patrick J. Lucey, Madison, chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic party, charging the firm with violating the act. It is under advisement. Complaints also have been filed in Milwaukee state by sanding and refinishing.

Carney in First TV Musical for Puppets

Bob Hope Parr's Guest Monday Night;
Dean Martin Lines Up Crosby, Harris

BY JINGO

"Art Carney Meets Peter and the Wolf," planned for Sunday afternoon, Nov. 30, on WFRV-TV, is the first major television musical ever staged for puppets.

Carney will play a dedicated nature lover who uses his fishing line to feed fish rather than catch them. He tries to get the animals of the forest to re-admit the wolf to their friendship.

The music of Prokofiev will be used. It has each of the characters — Peter, grandfather, the duck, the bird, the cat, the hunters and the wolf — represented by different instruments.

Baird Marionettes will add charm. Special underwater and space ballets have been created.

JINGO'S JEWELS: Bob Hope is Jack Paar's guest Monday night on the late night NBC-TV show. It's the first day of weeks of shows from Hollywood. . . Phil Harris, Bing Crosby and Debbie Reynolds are Dean Martin's guests for Martin's special show Saturday night, Nov. 22, on the NBC-TV channels. . . NBC-TV will telecast the world's invitational match game bowling championships Friday night, Dec. 12, from Chicago.

Sterling Hayden and Geraldine Page have been announced as stars of William Faulkner's "Old Man," the Nov. 20 offering of "Playhouse 90."

Jackie Gleason, promised a chance to answer all questions candidly, joins Arthur Godfrey for five free-wheeling days starting Monday morning on WBAY-TV. . . Ethel Merman and Garry Crosby have signed to guest on Eddie Fisher's Nov. 11 NBC-TV show. . . Charles Van Doren will host modern dramatizations of the 10 Commandments on NBC-TV starting in January.

Pat O'Brien opens Nov. 17 at Chicago's Drury Lane theater in "The Long Red Ricks." . . Danny Thomas and his TV family will be guests on Desi and Lucy's second show of the season Monday night, Dec. 1. . . Ed Sullivan's Alaska show is set for Sunday night, Dec. 7. . . Multi-talented Jack Webb, actor, director and producer, came out with a book, "The Badge," Monday. It's about a police force in action.

Lou Little, former Columbia university football coach, is serving as Monday morning quarterback on NBC-TV "Today" programs every Monday. . . Jingo still likes the old line attributed to W. C. Being a Comic Serious Job, Says Louis Nye

Found His Role As Comedian While in Service

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP) — What makes a funnyman funny? Take the case of Louis Nye, the hep comic who helps brighten the Steve Allen hour. He is one of those rare comedians who can evoke laughter with the simplest of lines or even his mere appearance on the screen.

Yet he is no life-of-the-party type. Few real comedians are. Here for a couple of Hollywood originations of the Allen show, he discussed comedy with the serious articulation of a Madison avenue ad man such as he has portrayed on TV.

To Nye, getting laughs is a matter of serious analysis of human foibles. He began early, playing in summer stock and on radio. More often than not, he played an intense juvenile. But the army made him realize that comedy was his strong suit.

Army Assignment "I was stationed at a camp near a wild town in Missouri," he recalled. "I was in charge of the recreation hall, and I had to make the entertainment good enough to keep the young soldiers from going into town. It was a challenge and I worked hard at it. For the first time, I realized the ability to make people laugh."

He got more valuable experience in the army by touring with "Winged Victory" and entertaining in hospitals. At war's end, he went back to radio and night clubs but with only mediocre success.

"I got to that point which is dangerous for an actor: I was a 'reliable' performer," he said. "Whenever a certain role came up, they'd send for 'good old Louis Nye.' You can go on for years like that and never be anything but 'good old Louis Nye.'"

Fortunately, the Allen show came along and Nye was raised from merely reliable to a surefire laugh-getter with his Gordon Hathaway and other guises.

Tall Actress Gets Starring Role in 'Horse Soldiers' Hollywood — Constance Towers, who has the dream assignment of co-starring with William Holden and John Wayne, should have been a star two years ago.

One of the things that held her back is that producers didn't have the vision that some of the rest of us had. Another is—I beg your pardon for this—that Connie towers.

She stands a delightful 5 feet 9 or 10 in high heels. Though she has obvious qualities for stardom—a natural Bergmanesque beauty, blonde Kelly-like hair and a rich voice that is all her own—her height was against her. Somehow, male stars don't like to look up at their leading ladies.

Fortunately, Wayne and Holden rise above her. Hence she qualified for the leading female role in the $5 million "Horse Soldiers."

She doesn't just stand around and hold the reins; it's a real star-making role.

Zeppo Marx to Wed Model Diane Davies

Hollywood — Zeppo Marx, 57, youngest of show business' Marx brothers, is engaged to marry blonde model Diane Davies, 22, of nearby Westwood.

They haven't set a date for the marriage, he said yesterday. They met about six months ago in Las Vegas, Nev.

Zeppo once appeared in movies with his comedian brothers Groucho, Harpo and Chico but left the act to become a Hollywood talent agent. His first wife, Marion, divorced him in 1954 after 27 years of marriage. They have a son, Tim, 13.

Drastic Steps Could Hold City Budget Hike to $3.50

Revision of Estimated Incomes, County Board Surplus Required

BY JIM NEWCOMB
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Drastic steps by aldermen and county board supervisors could hold the city tax rate should amount to between increase for 1959 to about $3.50.

Without departures from previous practices, the increase could amount to about $6.75.

Spending of $5,971,588 has been approved by the city budget committee. This compares to about $5,316,718 for this year and in an increase of $5.80 in terms of the tax rate.

The spending is subject to revision upward or downward by aldermen in a committee of the whole meeting Wednesday night or at a subsequent public hearing.

Flexible Schedule—Other dollar demands—by the county board, the state and county schools—are unknown, but indications are they will be proposed at about the same level as this year, or a total of $813,000.

This makes a total demand of about $6,764,588.

Offsetting the demand in part are city incomes from other than property taxes. A flexible schedule furnished the budget committee puts this source at about $1,791,880. Another offset is the estimated cash surplus in the general fund on Jan. 1. This, Auditor Frank Okada says, should amount to between $150,000 and $200,000.

The total of predicted offsets, without further adjustment, would leave a tax demand of at least $4,822,708, an increase of $764,390 or about $6.75 in tax rate terms.

Loss of Surplus—Key to the difference between the hike in the rate due to spending and the final rate hike is the loss in income from anticipated cash balance. The loss amounts to between $162,000 and $112,000.

If the county board would apply, for example, $500,000 of its anticipated surplus money against its budget, Appleton would receive about $257,000, or $2.28 on the rate, in relief.

If the aldermen could revise their schedule on anticipated incomes, another $111,000, or about $1 on the rate, might be realized.

The $111,000 might be obtained in this way:

Place about $30,000 in the schedule for expected income from the school districts which were attached. Nothing is shown at the moment.

Place about $25,000 in the schedule to end payment of extra money to the water utility.

Place $10,000 in the schedule as coming from the deficit housing authority. There is $14,000 available, but some question of legality of abolishment of the authority.

Hike the estimate of surplus by $6,000, the amount public works budgets estimates for last quarter spending were trimmed.

Raise the gas tax allotment $10,000. This, Appleton Taxpayer association says, is a climbing source and while $299,312.52 was received this year, the schedule is estimating only $290,000 for next year.

Raise the auto license tax share by $10,000. Same reason.

Raise the expected share of power company taxes $20,000. Same reason.

Licenses, Fees—Raise the telephone company tax share $5,000. Same reason.

Raise the estimate of revenue from the water department $17,000. Utility officials claim it will be at least $102,000, compared to $85,000 on the schedule.

Raise the estimate of licenses and fees $9,000. This would bring them to the 1957 level. If swim pool fees should be revised, so should these.

Take the parking meter revenue prediction out of the picture. It is used to offset expenditures and can't be touched anyway.

Add $900 to the miscellaneous income to bring it into focus with experiences of 1957.

Interest—Hike departmental earnings estimate by at least $1,900. This would bring it to the predicted level for this year and still keep behind the 1957 level by $8,000.

Raise the workmen's compensation estimate by $2,000. A $3,000 dividend is expected, one alderman says, and the account carries only $1,000 on the schedule.

Adjust Treasurer Ray Feuerstein's earnings from investments about $45,000. There is $28,100 on the schedule, but Feuerstein has told a budget committee the figure is about $74,000.

If the county board fails to make the surplus adjustment, but the budget committee does, the rate increase could be held to about $5.78.

Dillman Seen After Girl Disappeared

Authorities Question 14 Witnesses in Probe of Slaying

Oshkosh — Vernon Dillman, 22, being sought for questioning in the death of Miss Ruth Schmidt, 17, was in the Oshkosh area on Aug. 16, the day after Miss Schmidt disappeared, Dist. Atty. John Steinhilber and Sheriff Charles Lowry said today.

The Winnebago county authorities have questioned 14 friends of the girl whose decomposed body was found near a town of Omro marsh Tuesday. They said today investigators are continuing their probe in the county near where the body was found.

The two officers said questioning has revealed that Dillman was still in the Oshkosh area after the girl disappeared. He is being sought for breaking parole when he failed to report to authorities on Aug. 22. He was one of the last persons seen with the missing girl, Aug. 15.

Find No Clues

The area in which the body was found by three hunters Tuesday has been thoroughly searched, the two said, and no trace of the girl's shoes or purse was found nor were there any other clues uncovered.

Steinhilber refused to comment on the autopsy report until the state crime laboratory completes its investigation.

He also refused to say when Municipal Judge S. J. Luch-singer will start the secret John Doe hearings into the mystery.

Steinhilber explained the secret investigative technique was requested "because we will be able to make more headway that way."

Search Continues

The search for Dillman continues, the authorities said. The crime laboratory was to release the girl's body at 1 p. m. today.

Private memorial services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at Christ Lutheran church with burial in Lakeview Memorial park.

Postler works on a farm in the Shiocton area.

Lawrence Says:

Six States to Cast Votes on Right-to-Work

Misrepresentation Of Real Issue Has Been Broadcast

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — If you are a member of any organization and don't like the way it is being run, you can resign. That's a form of protest widely understood in America.

Unfortunately, however, in many states if you are a member of a labor union, you can't resign without losing your job—the boss has agreed by contract with the union to fire you.

This is the essence of the "right to work" controversy. Congress passed a law saying that the states can deal with the problem in their own way. Eighteen states have passed laws forbidding compulsory union membership. The people of six states will vote next Tuesday on whether to enact "right to work" laws.

Considerable misrepresentation of the real issue has been broadcast. It has been contended, for instance, by some churchmen that opposition to compulsory membership in unions is immoral. But the evidence shows that many prominent churchmen do not feel that way. Likewise, labor union leaders argue that a worker must not be a "free rider"—that is, he must not be willing to receive the benefits of what the union does without paying for the upkeep of the union.

But that isn't the real issue at all. Here is what the Reverend Edward A. Keller of Notre Dame university, in his book "The Case for Right to Work Laws," published in 1957 says:

"It should be pointed out that the non-union workers in an open shop today are not 'free riders' but forced riders since under the Taft-Hartley act they lose their right to bargain individually with their employers and are forced to bargain through the union."

Exert Powerful Influence The truth is a non-union member or a union member who has the right at any time to resign in protest can exert a powerful influence in bringing about unions that are democratic and free from corruption and which it would be desirable for the worker to join if he conscientiously believes in unions.

Judge Carter of the Nebraska supreme court, in upholding the "right to work" laws of that state, wrote:

"We have prided ourselves in this country on the rights of free speech and free thought, rights which have been guaranteed to us by constitutional provision. Compulsory unionism infringes upon these rights and often encroaches upon the right of an individual to be free from coercion by others. To compel him to contribute to the support of economic or political programs adopted by a union, which may be abhorrent to him, is as constitutionally wrong as if similar programs were compelled by the employer. The Fifth Amendment protects against the forced appropriation of one's property for the support of ideals which he may desire to oppose."

The six states where the issue is being voted on next week are California, Ohio, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Kansas. The 18 states which already have "right to work" laws are: Alabama, Arizona, Florida, Arkansas, Indiana, Mississippi, Utah, South Carolina, Nebraska, Virginia, North Carolina, Nevada, Georgia, Texas, Tennessee, North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa.

Claims More Fish Die Of Old Age at TVA

Knoxville, Tenn.—More fish die of old age in Tennessee Valley Authority lakes than end up in the frying pan. That's the complaint of TVA's fish and game division. Its report said that best estimates are that "no more than 20 per cent of the available fish crop is harvested in any one year."

The division diplomatically avoided blaming either smart fish or poor anglers.

Artist Series Star

GIs Helped Violinist Eto Study in U. S.

Lawrence college's Artists Series will bring to the stage of Memorial chapel at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 13, the noted Japanese violinist Toshiya Eto. The performer is internationally famous for his "smoothness, purity, firm unwavering control, and rare ability to turn a graceful phrase."

As a young boy in Tokyo, Toshiya knew that he wanted to be a concert violinist. By the time he was 12, he was ready for training by the distinguished faculty of exiles from the Moscow conservatory who staffed the Imperial Academy of Music in Tokyo, and had won the empire-wide Mainichi competition entitling him to an appearance as a soloist with the Nippon Philharmonic.

A desire to study abroad was realized when interested American GIs helped him obtain a scholarship to the Curtis Institute, Philadelphia. Three years of study in Philadelphia were ended with a sensational debut at Carnegie Hall in 1951. Since that time, Eto has toured the world, performing with such famous conductors as Ormandy, Golschman, Jorda and Alessandro.

Tickets are available for the public at Bellings.

In Good Taste

Overdoing Hostess Bit, Spoils Party

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I have attended confirmations and weddings through the years and at these receptions where a sit-down dinner is served, I have noticed the parents between courses going around to the different tables asking the guests if there is anything they want or if they are having a good time. Is this practice proper? I will be having a reception for my son in the not too distant future and I would like to know if my husband and I are expected to do this? Is it in good taste?

Answer: The well-meant practice you describe is not to be encouraged. It is certainly not improper, but instead of helping the guests to enjoy themselves it actually does the opposite by disturbing those at the small tables visited and interrupting their conversations.

No Gift Needed

Dear Mrs. Post: I received an invitation to the wedding and reception of a cousin of a man I have been dating for the past several months. I intend to accept the invitation but not knowing either the prospective bride, or groom, or for that matter any of their families, I am in a quandary as to the correct procedure relative to a wedding present. Should I, or should I not, send a gift on my own?

Answer: No, you need send no present and I certainly do not think that one will be expected from you.

Living Flowers Only

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine makes really beautiful artificial flowers—in fact you can hardly tell them from the real. What would you think of using these perfect imitation flowers for the bridesmaids' bouquets?

Answer: I am sorry, but living flowers are really essential for the bouquets of the bridal attendants. Artificial flowers, no matter how perfect, would not be suitable.

Herb Combinations Make Any Meat or Fowl Dish Savory

A combination of thyme, rosemary, marjoram and basil is delicious in a meat loaf, in hamburgers and steaks, and in pot roasts. But use a light hand when adding the herbs.

Add tarragon to a chicken that you are braising if you want delightful flavor.

If you use bread crumbs made from fresh white bread and plenty of butter you do not have to add liquid to a poultry stuffing to have it both moist and fluffy. Add onion cooked lightly in the butter, and celery also if you like, as well as poultry seasoning.

Your Problems

Man Takes Appealing Job for Meager Pay; Family Suffers

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Last year my husband went to work as a hospital business manager. He accepted the job for $150 a month because he loves hospitals. At first he stayed over night once or twice a week. Now he's there five nights a week and comes home week-ends. He pays no attention to our 16-year-old daughter. I feel like a widow. I had to go to work to supplement the family income, but this was a blessing. I'd go mad alone all day and all night, too.

Since I became employed I haven't seen his $150 and we are deeper in debt than ever because he runs up bills. Last week when I told him to come home where he belongs or get out for good he snorted and said if I tried anything the judge would laugh me out of court. Please advise me. I'm a wreck.—V.B.

Any man who'd prefer to sleep in a hospital five nights a week rather than drive 45 minutes to get home doesn't deserve to have a home.

You've told him to behave like a husband or stay away for good and this makes sense. As for a judge laughing you out of court, I don't see anything funny.

Suggest a lawyer or a marriage counselor to get this badly derailed marriage back on the track. If he refuses, see a lawyer about separate maintenance. Your life wouldn't be very different, except he'd be obligated by law to support you and his daughter. And maybe he'll develop some respect for you when you announce your doormat days are over.

DEAR ANN: I am a cute girl 19 years old. I am in love with a darling boy. We like the same things and could make a lovely couple. The trouble is my cousin who is a "no-mates allowed" office party once a year? "Off the leash" my eye. Most of the husbands in our set have chewed the leash in two, and the neck end, unfortunately, is too short for strangling!

I'm a good, no-nagging, understanding wife and I love my husband almost to the point of worship. I don't want to go to parties without him and I don't want him going to parties without me.

It took me until February to completely forgive him for the last Christmas office party—and now you come up with this. I've heard rumors that you are a man. It must be true.—UNINVITED WIFE

DEAR UNINVITED: I hope you still have that particular column so you can read it in its entirety. I clearly stated that it wouldn't be a woman to let her husband off the leash once a year—but it's not worth a family fight. And if the little woman is going to get all unstrung over it, the guy should stay at home.

New Hairdos Easy to Fix for Little Girls

Don't forget your junior miss at hair-styling time. More than ever before, little girls are looks-conscious, and their mothers should choose hairdos for them that please them, as well as keeping them neat and attractive all day. Here are six hairdos that require only a few pin or rollers. They were arranged by mothers who are not professional hair stylists, so they can be tried with no difficulty:

Ponytails are a current favorite with the younger set, and an attractive way to keep pretty long hair neat and away from the face. Pull the hair straight back, fasten with a rubber band, ribbon, or ponytail-clip. Set ponytail ends in fat pincurls or large, rubber rollers. When dry, brush and turn under the curls. Straight bangs from a V-part add balance to the ponytail.

Dual Ponytails A popular variation is a style described as "dual ponytails." Part the hair in the center, from forehead to nape of neck, and tie a "ponytail" with bows above each ear. Curl the hair on big rubber rollers.

For parties and dress-up, little girls like curls. An up-swept knot of curls above straight bangs keeps the hair pretty in place during party games or on windy days. Set the hair in rows of tight pincurls across the nape of neck, then brush up as for a ponytail. Pin the "knot" in place with a flower wreath.

Fine, straight hair is easily manageable with an end permanent. A neat pageboy can then be fashioned for the little girl. Set a pageboy with clamps in flat pincurls across the neck, turning the curls toward the face on each side from the center back. Set one pincurl in front of each ear.

Simple Hairdo An easy-to-care-for bob has a center part and straight bangs, and is softened by curled ends across the back of neck and over ears. With flat clamps, set a row of pincurls all around, turning them toward the face on either side from the back. Overlap the two curls at center back. Sheri Lewis and Boo Hoo

Make Boo Hoo, A Halloween Party Ghost

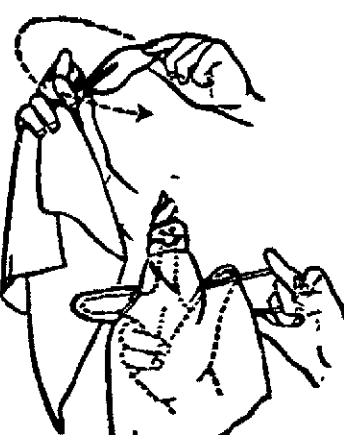

This little spook won't scare anyone, but he's always willing to show up in a hurry when a Halloween party needs a bit of spirit.

Shari Lewis calls him Boo Hoo in her new puppet book, and it takes only a bit longer to make him than pronounce his name.

All you need is a handkerchief, a crayon and a rubber band.

Knot one corner of the handkerchief and draw a face (three dots for nose and eyes and a curving line for a mouth) on the knot. Stick your pointer finger into the knot and drape the rest of the handkerchief around your outstretched thumb and middle finger.

Now hook a rubber band right around the thumb, across the back of your hand and around your middle finger. This completes the puppet body. Your pointer finger controls his head and the thumb and the middle finger become his arms.

There is so little to this ghost, anybody can make him. Once complete, he can bow, applaud and scratch his head. A very spirited sort of Halloween guest.

You can make him scratch his ghostly head, clap his hands, bow, and rub his tummy. A very spirited friend, indeed.

Oil Drops Will Stop Squeaking

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Question: I recently bought a good make box spring and mattress for my daughter's room. Now we can't rest because of the squeaking noises every time she moves. Is there any way of eliminating this? We can't find any defect in the bedding.

Answer: Squeaking is caused by one piece of metal rubbing against another. Squirt a few drops of oil at every point where one piece of metal touches another. Then "jounce" the springs several times to work the oil into the joints. Wipe off any excess oil to prevent staining the mattress.

"Rusted" Rug Question: Our rug was washed, but, before it dried, furniture was placed on it. A wrought-iron end table caused rust spots. How can these spots be removed?

Answer: Try removing the spots by wiping with lemon juice. Allow to remain about a half-hour, then rinse with clear water or a damp cloth. If not successful, you might be able to lessen the discoloration by snipping off the discolored tips of the nap. Dyeing a darker color may be last resort.

Cleaning Rubber Tile Question: I have a new rubber tile floor in my kitchen. What is the best way to clean it? I use a liquid wax, but the floor seems to show water marks, when any is splashed.

Answer: Rubber tile should be cleaned with mild soap or detergent, then rinsed thoroughly with clear water and allowed to dry. When dry, polish with a liquid self-polishing wax. Some self-polishing waxes are spotproof, and, usually, water spots will disappear after a little rubbing. Caution: Never use a wax which has an odor of turpentine, benzene, or similar volatile oils; these will work harmfully on the rubber tile.

Grease Spot On Wall Question: How can I remove grease spots from a wall that has a surface of flat paint?

Answer: If there are only a few stains, make a thick paste of powdered whiting and non-inflammable liquid spot-remover and cover stains with a heavy layer of the paste. Allow to remain several hours, then brush off. Repeat treatment if necessary. If whole wall is covered with grease spots, wash with a solution of trisodium phosphate, using two tablespoons to the gallon of lukewarm water, rinsing thoroughly afterwards with clear water. Begin working at bottom of wall and continue upwards, washing and rinsing a small section of the wall at a time.

Colleges Have Record Rolls, Survey Shows

Madison, Wis.—The Wisconsin college enrollment reached an all-time high of 60,230 students this fall, a study showed Wednesday, with more than 40,000 of these in tax supported institutions.

The record figure is 17 per cent above the peak reached after the Second World war. It represents an increase over last year of 4,886 students.

The study was prepared for the Wisconsin Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers by L. Joseph Lins, associate registrar of the University of Wisconsin. It showed that 25.3 per cent of the 18-21 year olds in Wisconsin are attending college.

The survey showed the state colleges have 13,910 students, the University of Wisconsin 24,047; county teachers colleges 1,354, private liberal arts colleges 15,840, private technical and professional colleges 1,985 and others 3,094. These include day students of all types only.

Churches all over the United States contributed nickels, dimes and pennies for the "traveling lady." That was five years ago. Miss Anderson got the station wagon and she's still going strong.

Woman Circuit Rider Travels, Lives in Station Wagon Home

Battle Creek, Mich. —

When Leila Anderson, modern-day circuit rider for the educational division of the Congregational churches, pulls into a town, she's sure to attract some attention and before long a crowd.

It just can't be helped.

The sign on the door of her sleek station wagon identifies her as a Pilgrim Circuit Rider, Board of Home Missions, Congregational Christian Church. She is America's only woman circuit rider.

Word soon gets around that the "gray-haired lady with the big smile" is back again in her station wagon home. Miss Anderson is on her third trip around the United States.

Meals Enroute

Housewives, whose kitchens are crammed with push-button equipment, stare in wonder at the electric bean pot she plugs into a dashboard converter to cook her meals enroute.

Mouths fairly hang open when the floor board behind the driver's seat is pulled up to disclose a miniature kitchen complete with gasoline stove, pots, and pans.

Miss Anderson's rolling home has even more surprises. Long metal planter boxes against the windows make her the country's most mobile gardener. She raises both flowers and vegetables. A parakeet keeps her company in a cage beneath the dashboard.

In other nooks and crannies she carries a tiny sewing machine, a refrigerator, folding ironing board and other home-making items.

"It's strange," the 60-year-old woman told a reporter, "that people are always more interested in my living equipment than my working equipment. They don't seem to realize that all these things are but supplementary to my purpose for traveling."

That purpose is contained

Leila Anderson, Pilgrim circuit rider for the board of home missions of the Congregational Christian church digs into her tailgate library of pamphlets, church school books and film slides at a mission stop. She travels and lives in her station wagon home.

In the stacks of wooden file boxes exposed when the tailgate is opened. They are filled with pamphlets, typed sheets, booklets and notes. Above the files are stowed a movie screen, maps, blackboards and phonograph records.

Alongside are a film projector and slides and a large supply of books and other items connected with Miss Anderson's work as a religious counselor.

Miss Anderson was born on a farm near LaMoille, Ill., where her father, now 93, still lives.

She attended the University of Chicago and received her master's and bachelor of divinity degree there and was ordained into the Congregational church.

She went to the Dakotas in 1940, serving as part-time minister and field worker among the Sioux Indians. Six years later, when the national office of the Congregational Church began planning a church school curriculum, someone on the staff was needed to explain it to rural churches. That task fell to Miss Anderson.

Her orbit of travelling widened and her "back" increased as she soon became an "information bureau" on any subject related to any department of the church. Finally it became obvious she needed a station wagon to haul the fund was started to supply necessary equipment and a one.

Churches all over the United States contributed nickels, dimes and pennies for the "traveling lady." That was five years ago. Miss Anderson got the station wagon and she's still going strong.

Taxpayers Ask Trade School To Cut $6,000

Appleton Taxpayers association Thursday asked the board of vocational and adult education to cut its 1959 city tax demand by $6,000.

In a letter to Edward C. Hilfert, board chairman, H. O. Barney, the association's projects committee chairman, said: "There is no doubt the 1958-59 vocational school budget was prepared with utmost care. However, it is the opinion of our association that the impending $6 to $7 per $1,000 increase in tax rates for 1959 on top of the $4.50 1958 increase is too much of a burden for the taxpayers."

"It is our request the vocational school reduce its proposed budget by $6,000, thus maintaining the same tax levy as for 1958. The Taxpayers association feels your finance committee is in a better position to determine where these cuts can best be made, and, consequently, of- fers no recommendations for specific reductions at this time."

Hilfert is out of town until next Thursday and was unavailable for comment.

Beauty of Cissus Discolor In Its Jewel-Toned Leaves

By Katherine E. Walker

In my opinion, Cissus discolor is the jewel of its family, and not nearly as difficult to grow as some writers would have you believe.

Sometimes called the Begonia Vine, it is seldom seen in combination planters, a fate that usually befalls its relatives, the Kangaroo-vine (C. antarctica), Grape-ivy (C. rhombifolia), and even the delicate Miniature Grape-ivy (C. striata).

Leaves of this vine are a lovely iridescent green on the surface, with silver markings prominent between the veins. Reverses of the leaves are a deep wine-red. Unlike many highly-colored foliage plants, C. discolor does not need sun- light in order to maintain its colors, and should not be exposed to more than very early morning sunlight at the most.

I keep my plants in a north-facing window through the spring and summer, where they receive strong light but no sun, and shift them to an east exposure for fall and winter. Do grow C. discolor on a moss-stick, to provide the extra humidity this vine loves, and plant it in rich, porous soil kept constantly moist.

Be sure to shower the plant and stick with tepid water every few days, to keep the moss damp. Propagation of this vine is by tip-cuttings, which will root readily in plain water.

Many of you have read my recommendations that certain plants should be grown on moss-sticks, and have written to inquire what they are and where they may be obtained. They are supports for climbing or trailing plants, serving the same purpose as a trellis, and, consequently, of- fers no recommendations for sphagnum moss, they can provide much higher humidity than the others. For best results, use only in planters having drainage holes, and shower the plant and stick whenever the moss begins to feel at all dry.

Questions and Answers My cyclamen had several faded leaves and flower stalks, which my florist said I should pull off. I cut them off neatly with a clean knife, but now it looks like the bulb is rotting.

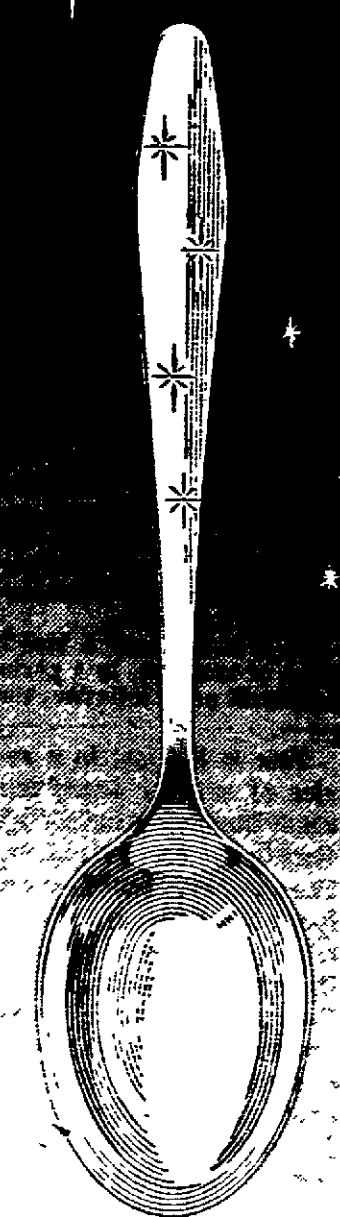

When your florist said pull, he meant pull and not cut.

"Challenge to All" Ralph Eiff, production manager, also extended congratulations to the crew saying, "This is a challenge to all departments in the mill and we hope that you will continue to set the target for others as you have been doing for the past seven years."

Two Retiring C&NW Employees Compile 88 Years of Service

Neenah — Almost a century of service to Chicago and North Western railroad patrons has been compiled by two retiring C&NW employees, Cornelius "Connie" Murphy, 65, 402 E. Forest avenue, retired Sept. 15 after serving in the Twin Cities the last 43 years. He started as a switchman and was yardmaster the last 24 years.

William Untiet, 65, 511 Hansen street, was hired by the railroad in 1913 as a clerk and agent. He kept warm in his has served as Neenah station agent since 1953. Today is his last day of work.

R. C. Parker, 746 S. Commercial street, an employee of the railroad for the last 37 years, has taken over Murphy's job and George Evers, Oshkosh, agent at the Little Chute station, will be the new Neenah agent.

First Job Untiet's first job as clerk at Wautoma called for him to handle and load freight and sell tickets. He was paid $35 a month. He kept warm in his has served as Neenah station agent since 1953. Today is his last day of work.

"I worked for 15 hours and 155 minutes a day for 30 cents an hour when I started as a switchman," Murphy reminisced. At that time 36 cars constituted a big freight train while today a 136-car train is common, he pointed out.

Untiet has served as agent at the Malone, Watertown and Ripon stations and at St. Cloud, Minn. As Neenah station agent he is in charge of 12 men in the ticket and freight departments.

Murphy's duties included taking care of the needs of 49 Twin City industries and to plan work for three crews.

Never Laid Off Neither man was laid off or received a demerit during his long tenure with the C&NW. Both claim they have enjoyed their work.

Murphy said he hasn't missed his job, only his contacts with hundreds of people.

A number of people when they retire prefer to travel. This is not the case with Murphy and Untiet, who have been all over the United States as guests of the C&NW.

However, if they do decide to make a trip they'll be ready as each was presented a lifetime pass by the railroad.

Taking a Final Look at a Chicago and North Western train schedule are Cornelius "Connie" Murphy, left, who retired as yardmaster on Sept. 15, and William Untiet, right, who retires today after five years as Neenah station agent. Both men are 65 years old and together have worked for the railroad 88 years.

Leon Morrissey, Highway Head Reports to Winnebago Board

Oshkosh — The Highway 41 4-laning project is five to six months ahead of schedule. Leon Morrissey, county highway commissioner, told the Winnebago county board this morning.

The Highway 21 overhead will be opened to travel on a gravel surface by the first of the year and paving is underway now on the Highway 110 interchange. He said contract for paving the stretch from Highway 26 north to Highway 45 at Brooks corner already have been let and bids will be received Nov. 18 for paving the stretch from Cecil street in Neenah to Highway 10 in Outagamie county.

Asked as to whether the 2-lane bridge over Lake Butte des Morts might be a bottleneck, Morrissey replied the state commission feels the bridge will not be a bottleneck at this time. The causeways are being extended at both ends of the lake.

Creates Problem

The Dixie road, intersection south of Neenah, will create a problem with the 4-laning in that area and something will have to be done there, the commission feels.

Morrissey outlined the proposed county trunk construction program for next year, estimating its cost of $438,000. State aid will provide

Campaign Signs Meant to be Jaycee Service

Neenah — The Neenah-Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce "did not mean to create a public controversy," with the "Get Out the Vote" campaign signs which were placed on parking meters in the Twin Cities Thursday night, Ronald C. McMurry, Jaycee president said this morning.

"Our full intention, as in any of our projects, was to perform a civic service by encouraging the citizens of Neenah and Menasha to get out and vote Nov. 4," McMurry said.

Mayors of the two cities ordered police to remove the signs Thursday night after a citizen had complained about them to Neenah city officials. The posters, designed locally, featured a Red soldier and the slogan "Don't Vote Nov. 4" in large type with a smaller line "If you want this to happen in the U.S."

Desire for Change May Scramble Jobs

But Parties Now Can Switch Without Any Change Resulting

BY SAMUEL LUBELL

What the Republican party needs to check its losses in both congress and in governor's mansions around the country is for the Democrats to win the White House.

That may sound ironical. Still, it is not mere chance that the election of the first Republican president since 1932 should be followed by the crumbling of the GOP's strength in many of its most traditional strongholds, including even the state of Maine.

Partly the explanation lies in what might be termed the psychology of political grievance. While Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman were president anyone who got mad politically had a simple recourse — to vote Republican. Whatever it was that gripped the voter — war, corruption, foreign aid, soaring taxes, rising living costs — these things would be corrected, or so the campaigners promised, by "throwing the rascals out." But after six years of Republican rule, as has been pointed out by many voters I have interviewed, most of the old grievances persist. And it is the Republicans who have become the target of the "time for change" feeling.

However, something much deeper is also involved. As a nation we seem to have been plunged into a new period of political instability, which might be described as the era of the indecisive landslide.

No Basic Change

A sweep by one party can be followed by a sweep by the opposition without bringing any really basic change.

One reason for this is the feeling voiced by many voters that "it makes no difference which party wins." But more fundamental perhaps is the question which other voters are beginning to ask: Can the really important problems confronting the nation be solved by either party?

Three central issues dominate our times—the cold war with Russia, how the economy is managed, and civil rights. In each of these three areas the forces locked in conflict are stubborn and powerful, certainly beyond any easy managing.

As one result, the officials charged with these problems find themselves constantly on the political hot spot trying to administer policies that are bound to alienate a good part of the electorate. In the desegregation struggle, for example, it was little more than chance that the unanimous decision of the supreme court was handed down while a Republican, not a Democrat, sat in the White House. The fact that a Republican president has had to enforce this decision has wrecked all immediate hopes for a 2-party south. In their recoil from Little Rock, many southerners today say "the Democrats are less for integration."

But would this belief survive a Democratic victory in 1960? My own judgment is that nothing could be more likely to stoke anew the fires of political insurgency in the South than to have a Democratic president enforcing the court's decision.

As another illustration, take the farm problem. Virtually everyone agrees the nation's farmers can raise more agricultural produce than can be marketed. But up to now there has been no agreement on how to cut down and eliminate these surpluses.

Reserve Farms

Among the farmers with whom I have talked not even the Republicans believe that total farm output can be reduced through either lower farm prices or by getting the least efficient producers to quit farming. In Wisconsin, for example, I was discussing the new farm program with a staunchly Republican farmer. Under this new program the old soil bank, which allowed farmers to leave idle part of their land, is being replaced by a plan under which whole farms can be put into "reserve" for several years. "Only the worst farms will go into that reserve," predicted this Wisconsin farmer. "Whatever reduction you get from that will be more than made up by the farmers on the good land."

Many farmers concede surpluses can be ended by drastic production control, but they also protest that "we don't want the government telling us what we can plant."

Up to now the ire of the smaller farmers has been directed at Ezra Benson. One suspects that a Democratic secretary of agriculture would terms — the picket fence, for also find it difficult to "solve" instance — toward designs the farm problem. In fact, a created from ordinary square-cut boards from the woods of the western pine region.

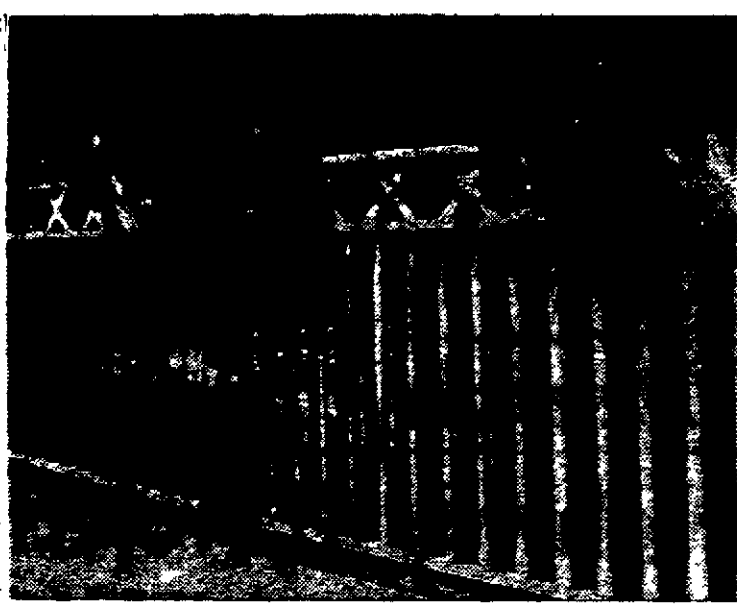

Wide Variety A big stimulus to the wide variety of creative designs in fences has been the growth of the do-it-yourself movement. The 10 species of the western pine region are popular with the home craftsman because they are easily worked with both hand and power tools, they take any kind of finish, are widely available, and are economical. Species such as inland red cedar and incense cedar are particularly well suited to any outdoor construction because they have a natural resistance to decay and weathering. But any of the other species of the western pine region will stand up well under a lifetime of use if properly treated.

Certain Principles No matter what type of wood fence is being built, certain principles will apply. Before starting the fence, check local codes for regulations about height and location and check property lines.

Four-by-fours make good fence posts. The diameter of the hole should be as close as possible to the dimensions of the post.

Posts should be sunk about one-third their length and rest on two or three inches of sand or gravel. Set them in concrete if the soil is loose. Two-by-fours are recommended for horizontal stringers between posts. For added strength, set

Wood Board Fences Provide Variety of Uses

Trend Now Away From Utilizing Certain Patterns

For dressing up the outside of a house and giving it a touch of individuality, a fence is a rewarding project.

Many different purposes may be served and effects achieved quickly and economically with a fence.

It may be designed to give balance to the home. For instance, it can add width to a narrow looking structure.

More commonly, fences provide backyard privacy, screen objectionable views, keep children and pets in and stray dogs or intruders out, or act as a backdrop for plants and vines. Other purposes are to separate different sections of the yard and as a windbreak shielding the patio or garden area.

The important thing about modern fence building is the trend away from the set pattern of agriculture would terms — the picket fence, for also find it difficult to "solve" instance — toward designs the farm problem. Plaster, Gypsum Interior Drywalls Have Long Life

Many new homes today employ interior "drywalls" . . . plaster or gypsum wall board. Either type of material should give you excellent service and should—with minimum maintenance—last for the life of your home. In unusual cases, such as extreme shrinking in framing boards, minor cracks may appear in the plaster.

It is suggest that no repairs be attempted until the room is ready to be redecorate! At that time fill the cracks with spackling compound (available from your paint or hardware store), smoothing the surface after it hardens with fine sandpaper before re-decorating the entire wall. Except in very unusual circumstances, cracks should not reappear.

Sometimes unusual abrasions scuff or indent the surface of plaster or gypsum walls. In that event it is suggested that the indentation be filled with two or three applications of cement of the type used for taping joints in dry-walls. In the case of conventional plaster interior walls, cracks commonly occur as a result of normal shrinkage in lumber used for framing or vibrations set up by heavy street traffic. For this reason, many home owners do not use expensive wall covering in the initial decoration, preferring to wait until the house has settled. Then, when the time comes to re-decorate, cracks can be filled by the home owner or paperhanger using plaster, spackle, or similar compounds.

Spots or smudges on interior stucco walls can be removed with a fine grade sandpaper.

PAID ADV. Authorized, written and paid for by the Neenah Planning Group, D. Garlock, Chairman, Chamber of Commerce of Neenah-Menasha, 112 W. Wisconsin Ave., Neenah, Wis.

An Open Letter to The Citizens of Neenah:

In keeping with our previously stated pledge, the Neenah Planning Group of the Chamber of Commerce of Neenah - Menasha urges your approval on November 4 of the bond issue for the construction of our much needed new police station.

While we wholeheartedly support the referendum, we also reiterate our stand on a crucial phase of modern city planning which is becoming increasingly important to the deserving people of Neenah as well as to our business and industry, that of providing adequate and convenient off-street parking.

To briefly review our efforts and the thinking behind these actions which have come to your attention in recent weeks, the Planning Group obtained options on two sites just outside the downtown shopping area for the purpose of erecting a police station thereon. These options were turned over to the City, with the idea in mind that the use of either for police station purposes would insure widest use of the present City Hall block for off-street parking one block from our main downtown business street.

The options referred to were returned to us after the Common Council decided to erect the police station on their earlier selected site.

We stated at the time, and we again repeat, that in order to attract new stores and other businesses and to properly serve existing enterprises, plenty of adjacent parking should claim first priority in providing the climate necessary for investment in business building construction.

In our appearances before the Mayor of Neenah and the Common Council we stressed the fact that we believed, with good reason, that reservation of the City Hall block for parking would be an inducement for new business construction nearby, with consequent increased tax revenues to the city as the result.

A start in that direction may now become a reality through recently announced plans for a contemplated forty-unit motel next to the Valley Inn Hotel, provided that adjacent over-night parking facilities are made available.

Use of those adjacent parking facilities for public buildings would undoubtedly stop the motel plan or any other business building construction of any magnitude in the hotel block between Doty and Wisconsin avenues.

In conclusion, we firmly support the referendum for the bond issue necessary for the erection of the new police station. At the same time, we strongly urge the creation of a general city plan which will determine, among other things, the proper placement of parking areas and city buildings. It is only through this approach that mistakes costly to the citizens and our business community can be avoided.

Winnebago OKs Guidance Clinic Request

Clergy Want Clinic
The Rev. Robert Sladek, director of the Oshkosh and Neenah-Menasha Apostolates, informed the board "the a-theistic clergy recommend wholeheartedly that you give consideration to this clinic."

Need Help
Dr. Melvin Apell, Oshkosh pediatrician, cited some of his cases and said there is a very definite need for one in some of the problem cases.

Miss Edna Palecek, elementary supervisor and guidance director in the Winnebago school system, said the teachers often need the help of a clinic staff to work with some of the children who have problems but have no place to turn.

Henry Kohfeldt, Neenah police captain, cited several police cases, such as a window peeper and sex deviate, where clinic help would have been desired instead of reformatory terms which did not solve the person's trouble or prevent a recurrence of the crime.

Paul Dodge, Neenah Foundry company personnel director and Wilson school PTA president at Neenah, pointed out that industry has learned that what affects a man outside the plant affects him inside the plant. "If he is disturbed, he cannot do the job he should." He cited one case where a clinic could have helped a man who became institutionalized for six months. He pleaded for a place to which industry could turn to secure help for its employees needing guidance.

The support and endorsement of the Winnebago county Medical society to the guidance center was expressed by Dr. H. M. Hultenbrand of Oshkosh who said the society urged the board give full cooperation to this clinic.

Connor outlined the procedure in Eau Claire county and mentioned there was a waiting list of 65 persons seeking help beyond those already being aided. It sometimes takes several months before we can get to them, he mentioned.

He cited costs for committing a person to a mental hospital and how a clinic might be able to prevent that institutionalizing. He stated the clinic was not a cure-all but that its average of improving the emotional condition of seven out of 10 patients was quite satisfactory and a large proportion.

Establishment of the clinic was urged by the welfare board of the county which has been studying the matter for several months and has investigated guidance centers in other counties. "We do not plan a piecemeal job," Supv. John Heigl, Neenah, welfare board chairman, said. "We must have a full staff and we feel the $35,000 in the budget is ample to start the program."

PAID ADV. — Authorized and paid for by Draheim for State Senate Club, Frank X. Hochholzer, Jr., chairman, Neenah, Wisconsin.

RE-ELECT
William A. "Bill" DRAHEIM
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE
State Senator
Winnebago and Calumet Counties
The 1959 session of the Wisconsin State Legislature will have important policy decisions to make that will require a proven background and experience to adequately serve Wisconsin citizens.
That is the reason for the Draheim for State Senate Club which is supporting William A. Draheim, Neenah, in his bid for re-election to the State Senate on the Republican Ticket.
The 1957 Legislature provided a carefully drawn budget with needed increases for education and welfare, but with cuts as well through a careful appraisal of state services, that held off a major tax increase.
The same careful, studied approach necessary in 1959 indicates the need on the part of voters for a careful review of the qualifications of legislative candidates.
Senator Draheim, for three legislative sessions, has been a member of the important joint legislative finance committee, a key group of 14 state legislators which screens all requests for funds, makes recommendations on expenditures and reductions in spending, and charts a tax program for the consideration of the legislature.
Senator Draheim has a wide background in business, local governmental and civic activities, and in the nation's Armed Forces. He has been a retail merchant and real estate salesman, served on the county board of Winnebago County, and is a member of numerous local organizations.
He is a veteran of both World Wars, volunteering as a private in World War I and advancing to a Colonel of Infantry in World War II, in which he served 38 months in the Southwest Pacific with the 32nd Division and other units.
He has been a member of the State Senate since 1950, where he is known as a leading advocate of conservatism in public expenditures and a vigorous opponent of tax increases.

Designer Lists Ideas
On Easily Made Toys

Neenah — A designer for a leading manufacturer of aluminum foil, Conny Hula, has some delightful and workable suggestions as answers to that familiar complaint of youngsters, "Mommy, I don't have anything to do."

Left-over foil as a plaything is as versatile as modeling clay and not nearly as messy. Besides the foil, all that is necessary is cellophane tape, colored paper or felt and ribbon.

"Melvin the Mouse" can furnish endless fun for children. He is made from a tapered can — like the one mother uses to sprinkle clothes for ironing — and a kitchen sugar scoop.

First cover the can and scoop with aluminum foil and place the handle in the neck of the can. Cut folded foil in to ears and glue to the sides of the sugar scoop. Strings of varn glued to the top of the scoop furnish Melvin's hair and bits of crepe paper or felt form the eyes and mouth.

A short strip of foil folded once can be crushed into the shape of arms and glued to the back of the can. Feet are made from two oblong circles of felt and the long tail is a narrow strip of felt, fastened to the bottom of the can. A ribbon bow at the neck adds the final decorative touch.

Clown Toy

Children can make "Willie the Clown" from a foil width about a yard long. Crush the foil into a long, thin rope and spiral the foil rope around a tapered bottle or can to make the body shape wide at the bottom and narrow at the top.

His head can be made either from a small Styrofoam ball or a blown egg shell glued to the top for a head and decorated with face features. The collar is made from two circles of foil and a con-shaped cardboard hat is covered with foil and placed at a jaunty angle on Willie's head. Short strips of foil fashion the arms and are glued onto the spiral body while the feet can be made of felt.

'Sylvia Swan'

A small, long-necked watering can can be made into "Sylvia Swan." The can should be placed about six inches off the center of a three-quarter yard length of foil with the can parallel to the direction of the foil.

Cover the back of the can and mold the foil around the handle to make a tail. Cover the rest of the can with foil and mold it around the arched neck. The head is made from a styrofoam ball stuck onto the spout of the can and small black buttons or felt fashions the eyes.

The swan's bill is made of small pieces of bent pipe cleaner and double-thickness foil, smoothed and pasted to the back form Sylvia's wings.

Pilgrim Group Lists Projects

Menasha — Members of the Pilgrim fellowship of the First Congregational church will hear Assemblyman Arnsing in the small choral group within the larger 60 voice choir.

On Tuesday, election day, fellowship members will work from 4 to 7 p.m. to get out the vote. They will furnish transportation and do baby sitting so registered voters can cast their ballots. Prior to Tuesday members will work through telephone calls and bulletins to remind people to vote.

A hay ride party will be held at 8 p.m. Nov. 8.

Resident Returns From California

Menasha — Mrs. Herbert J. Mueller, 234 Prospect street, has returned from a two week trip to California. She and her son, James, on furlough from the navy, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kilday, Los Angeles, aunt and uncle of Mrs. Mueller, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuhn, Redlands, brother and sister-in-law of the Menasha resident. James left Oct. 29 aboard the USS Colonial for Japan.

Brownie Troop Holds Election

Neenah — Brownie Troop 30 of Taft school named officers Wednesday and planned a hike to Washington park. Officers are Sue Rankin, president; Dorothy Wisniewski, vice president; Linda Hauke, secretary; Diane Hall, treasurer; Peggy Gehr, Laura Cermak and Patricia Backes, clean-up committee.

Mrs. Michael Hanley and Mrs. Morgan Hauke are the leaders. Mrs. William Gehr is troop committee chairman and Mrs. Alvin Thums, transportation chairman. Mrs. Ronald Hall is head of the refreshment committee.

Mrs. William Rankin is in charge of the spring father-daughter dinner. Heading the cookie sale is Mrs. Joseph Geiger. Mrs. Joe Wisniewski is telephone chairman.

radio, newspapers and other organized groups, the home agency estimated. Project leaders from each club participated in leader training meetings, special interest meetings and workshops. Miss Klusmeyer stressed the importance of training leaders for the operation of the homemaker program.

After training 80 leaders on a soaps and detergents project, the results show 143 homemakers use less detergent with 166 now measuring the amount used. Results of a quick breads project show better breads are made by 191 homemakers with 173 recognizing good and poor quality. A total of 200 health topics on safe driving, arthritis and rehabilitation were given during the year.

Child Study Group Forty-three women attended child study group meetings with emphasis on discipline, child's personality and pre-adolescence. The principles of fall flower and weed arrangements were demonstrated to 117 leaders at work shop sessions.

Two and one-half months were devoted to a series on "window treatment" with 16 leader training meetings conducted. Purpose of these meetings were to recognize new fabrics on the market, how to properly care for each type of material, to help buy ready-made draperies and to learn construction methods in making them at home.

Workshops Two basic clothing workshops were conducted, one in the Neenah center and the other for Winchester center. Twenty women from the two centers completed the workshop, meeting a half-day each week for six weeks. New skills learned included the use of unit construction, the importance of stay stitching, the application of a fitted facing and a collar on a garment in one step, the setting in of sleeves and the use of stay stitching on hems.

The first homemaker "Christmas fair" was held in November with 800 people viewing displays of aprons, gift suggestions, candles, centerpieces, Christmas cards, gift wrapping, cookies and children's decorations. Activity areas included bow tying, making cards, apron patterns and cake decorations.

Forty-three members were recognized for continued membership in a homemaker's club at the achievement program, celebrating the 35th year of home demonstration clubs. The project of home records for farm and home development families resulted in 18 families beginning to keep home records.

Children From the Fox Valley Liberal religious fellowship will be trick or treating for the underprivileged children of the world this evening in conjunction with the UNICEF Halloween program. Shown in their costumes above are Peter Dunwiddie as a rabbit; Sue Ferris, the pirate; Tom Dunwiddie, dressed as an Indian, and Peggy Ferris, who is giving Peter his UNICEF tag. In the lower photo Kim Falck is contributing to Alice and Jean Dunwiddie who are trick or treating in costume.

Menasha — Playing real alert football, St. Mary rolled over Marinette Catholic Central, 1-0, here Thursday night to chalk up an unbeaten season and gain a share of the Fox Valley Catholic conference championship.

The Menashans concluded their schedule with seven wins and a tie, including 3-0-1 in FVCC play to deadlock Little Chute St. John for first place. It is the third undefeated season in the school's history. The 1955 club was unbeaten and untied and the 1942 eleven had one deadlock. The Menashans, who usually grind out the yardage on the ground, scored one touchdown on an intercepted pass, another on a blocked punt, and a third on a punt return. Two others came on passes and one was the result of a 39-yard run.

The strong Menasha defense limited the Marinette ground attack to 22 net yards. The Cavaliers would have had a minus total except for successive runs of 17 and 18 yards against the reserves late in the game.

Marinette's strong pass attack clicked for 79 yards to bring the combined rushing and passing total to 101.

On the other side, St. Mary's rushing total was 147 yards but touchdown runs on the blocked kick, interception and pass returns aren't included in the total and the hosts went to the air more than usual, throwing 17 times and completing eight for 107 yards.

Cavaliers Stubborn
The undermanned Marinette squad was a stubborn group and the margin was so great mainly because of the alert Zephyr play which netted those quick touchdowns. The Menashans were stopped on a couple of drives. Marinette's deepest penetration was to the St. Mary 18 late in the game. However, when the series of downs was completed the visitors were back on the 37.

St. Mary made two first downs the first time it had the ball but had to punt. The hosts didn't fail on their second opportunity. They took over on their 44 after Marinette's kick and went the 56 yards in 10 plays.

The jaunt included three passes, the third working for a touchdown. Bill Becker pitched to Joe Rechner for the final eight yards on a fourth down play. The senior end made a diving catch in the end zone. Sophomore Pete Snyder booted the first of his five extra points.

Later in the third session, St. Mary took over on its 48 after a punt. Three plays carried to the Marinette 39 after which quarterback Gary Batley took the ball on a keeper, faked well and proceeded to score. Snyder's kick upped the score to 34-0.

The Zephyrs closed the scoring for the game and the season late in the fourth quarter after taking over on the Marinette 35 on downs. The scoring play was a 25-yard pass from Lotzer to Don Karisny. Snyder kicked the 41st point.

Coach Vince Ste. Marie used his entire squad except for George Walbrun and Bob include Harold Kachur, end; Bob McAloon, Charlie Weber and Dave Emerich, tackles; Dick Winz, Tom Jakowski and John Frieders, guards; Dick Taves, center; Dave Robinson and Bob Adams, quarterbacks; and Bill Bauer and Tom Stepanski, halfbacks.

Robinson, Stepanski, McAloon, Emerich and Taves all won letters as sophomores and juniors and Weber and Winz were monogram winners last year.

Robinson has been the regular signal caller for two years and he was a defensive regular as a sophomore. Stepanski was first string fullback as a sophomore and played halfback the last two seasons.

Other two-year regulars include McAloon, Weber and Taves. Emerich has alternated between tackle and center while Winz, a reserve last year, has become one of the two offensive guards in the conference. Bauer was out with injuries most of last year and Jakowski wasn't out for football. Kachur was a tackle on the jayvees a year ago but was transferred to an end spot this fall.

A win or tie will give the Jays the undisputed title while a loss would force them to share honors with Kimberly. The Menashans are working on a six-game win string and have only allowed six points in their last three games and 18 in their last six.

St. John again came up with a balanced scoring attack, paced by Swieczichowski's 22 points. Wisneski had 18, Martin 12, Ron Dibelius 12 and Bob Karisny 11. Dibelius picked up four fouls in the first four minutes of play.

Harold "Buck" Edinger scored 20 points on six baskets and eight free throws to lead the Brillion scoring. Henry Schwartz was next with 13.

Bruhn Alters UW Backfield to Gain Maximum Speed

Except for Lanphear, Badgers are In Good Shape for Spartan Tilt

Madison — The University of Wisconsin football team headed for East Lansing today and its important Big Ten engagement with Michigan State.

The meeting will be television's "Game of the Week" offering Saturday. The game starts at 12:30 p. m. (CST).

Wisconsin is favored by most experts, and the Badgers need a victory to keep alive hopes for finishing high in the final standings.

Spartans Out of Race

The Badgers have bowed to Iowa and tied Ohio State, and if MSU wins this one, it will mark a dreary end to earlier hopes that this was the year Wisconsin had it made.

The Spartans are already counted out of the Big Ten title race with two defeats and a tie and might like the honor of putting out any last hope Wisconsin might have for showing it's the kind of team built up in pre-season doping.

Last-minute preparations in the Badger camp were concerned with working out the wrinkles that caused Wisconsin miscues at crucial moments in the last two games.

In these games, Wisconsin weaknesses within 10 yards of the opposition goal kept the Badgers from finishing with what might have been victories.

The game will be the tenth since the series started between Wisconsin and Michigan State in 1913. Wisconsin holds a 5-4 margin. The Spartans won the last three easily.

Revamps Lineup

Head Coach Milt Bruhn this week made some backfield shifts which could enable the Badgers to get away with long runs from scrimmage. They have had trouble getting into the clear this fall because they lack a breakaway man.

With plenty of depth on the bench for 2-platooning, Bruhn has revamped his backfield lineup to get the fastest players into one unit. This com-ination, which he said he wants to try against the Spartans, includes Eddie Hart and Ron Steiner at the halves, Tom Wiesner at fullback and Sid Williams calling signals.

"Sidney is really coming around," Bruhn said. "He is running hard like he did last year."

A shift was also made in the Badger line where Lowell

"What are you doing New Year's Eve?" the popular song asks.

Any answer that Louisiana State, Iowa, California or Colorado can give to that question will have to wait until after Saturday's football games. These are the teams who have the inside track to the major New Year's day bowl games.

The day's big game has the Sugar bowl as a prize, as Louisiana State, the nation's No. 1 team faces sixth-ranked Mississippi. Both have 6-0 records. The winner will take control of the Southeastern conference. The SEC title is the automatic Sugar bowl host.

Could Decide Title

The Big Eight conference title could be decided Saturday when seventh-ranked Oklahoma visits Colorado (No. 9).

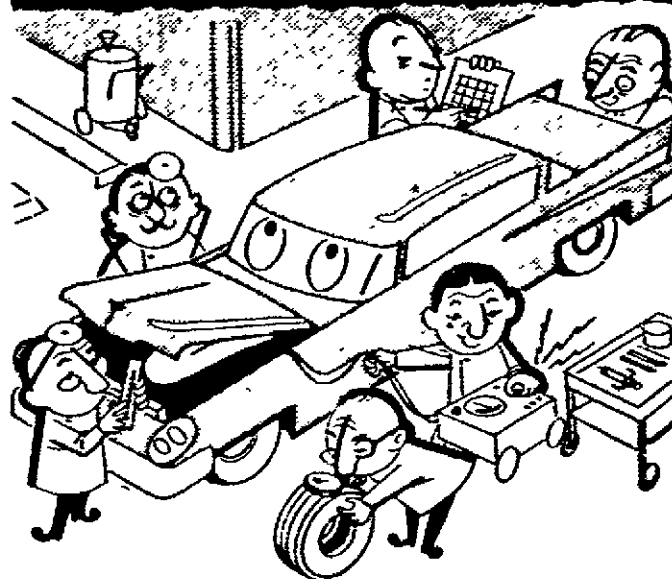

Oklahoma (4-1), current Orange bowl champ, is eligible to return this year. The Buffs, with a 5-0 record, head the Big Eight race with a 4-0 record. A victory for Colorado would send them to the Orange bowl, barring a complete collapse against weaker Big Eight opponents, and would also snap OU's 67-game conference unbeaten streak.

The Rose bowl participants last season's Stanley cup play-offs, scored one of the Bruins' goals Thursday night as they defeated Chicago, 5-2, and first victory over Michigan since 1924. It is undefeated (3-0) in conference play with seven.

MU Seeks Third Victory At Detroit

Milwaukee — Marquette Coach Johnny Druze is convinced that his band of football players has developed into full-fledged Warriors.

"The kids have found what they can do with a little extra effort," he said Thursday. "You can see the difference in practice and in their attitude. I don't think there will be any letdown this time."

There have been collapses before, just when Druze thought he had all parts of the team working as a single, competent machine.

In 1956, Druze's first year at Marquette, the Warriors played their best game before losing to Indiana, 19-13. And it looked like they were on the way. But they gave up 82 points while scoring only 14 in their next two games.

Sharp in Defeats

A year ago, as the Marquette losing streak grew longer, the team was sharp in defeats by Penn State and Boston college, but then fell apart and lost to Arizona State which won its only game of the season, 17-14.

This year, Warriors broke the losing streak at 20 by winning their opener against South Dakota State. Then there were defeats by powerful Wisconsin and Penn State.

The Warriors looked like they could have beaten Boston college, and then last Saturday turned in an upset victory over College of the Pacific.

That did it, Druze said. "The kids understand now that they can't live on last week's game and that it's a pleasure to look back on a victory like Pacific, but only for Saturday and Sunday."

The Warriors will try for their third victory Saturday against Detroit in Michigan, and Druze said, "Now they

For the first time in four years, the Appleton-Manitowoc football game won't be staged in the full glare of the Fox River Valley conference spotlight.

But, that doesn't mean the Terror-Shipbuilder engagement at Whiting field Saturday afternoon (1:30) will be a post-Halloween social.

Far from it.

Oshkosh '11' Upsets Fond du Lac, 14-7

Larry Schoenberger punched over from the 1-foot line in the first quarter and Mark Schumert scored on a short drive in the final period to give Oshkosh High a 14-7 upset win over Fond du Lac Thursday night.

The victory knocks Fondy out of contention for a title tie in the Fox River Valley conference. Green Bay East can tie current solo leader Green Bay West for the crown by beating the Wildcats Saturday.

"natural" rivalries to be saved until the climactic weekend of the season. The AHS-Manly series is one of these—along with East-West, North-Central and Oshkosh-Fond du Lac. There is seldom a need for coaches to key their teams for this set of games.

Shot at First Division

Adding further interest to the Terror-Ship joust is the opportunity for the winner to claim both a first division berth and a .500 overall record.

During the non-championship, curtailed-by-polio season of '55, Manty went into the final game with a chance of notching the FRVC's only unbeaten record. The Terrors stomped out a 13-2 upset win.

Both the 1956 and 1957 meetings of the hard-socking rivals had championship-game gladiators splashed all over them.

Braves and Yankees Dominate 'Star Team

Aaron, Spahn, Crandall Chosen; Ernie Banks Is Top Vote-Getter

New York — The Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees dominate the 1958 Associated Press major league all-star team named today in a poll of 173 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Three Milwaukee players and two Yankees were selected. The Braves are outfielder Hank Aaron, catcher Del Crandall and lefthanded pitcher Warren Spahn. The Yanks chosen are outfielder Mickey Mantle and right-hander pitcher Bob Turley.

Rest of Squad

The rest of the squad is composed of first baseman Stan Musial of the Cardinals, second baseman Nellie Fox of the White Sox, third baseman Frank Thomas of the Pirates, shortstop Ernie Banks of the Cubs and outfielder Willie Mays of the Giants.

Only Aaron, Spahn, Mantle and Musial are holdovers from last year's first team.

The balloting for shortstop was the most one-sided. Banks, the major league homer and RBI leader, collected 160 votes as compared to eight for his nearest challenger, Luis Aparicio of the White Sox.

Other Leaders

Other leading vote-getters were Spahn with 155, Musial 134, Mays 132, Turley 113 and Aaron 100.

Both league batting champions, outfielders Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Richie Ashburn of the Phils, were second team choices.

Members of the second team are: Orlando Cepeda, Giants, first base; Bill Mazeroski, Pirates, second base; Frank Malzone, Boston, third;

Packers Have Big Chance to Reach New Heights Sunday

McLean to Start Same Offensive, Defensive Units That Beat Eagles

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—If the Packers have a 4-quarter offense up their sleeves, Sunday is the time to explode it in Baltimore.

If the Packers have a 4-quarter defense, this is the time to use it.

If Lenny Ford is going to be 27 for one Sunday in the twilight season of his great career, this is the Sunday.

If such expert pass receivers as Billy Howton, Max McGee, Gary Knafele and Steve Melinger ever never dropped a pass, this is the time to do it.

If the Packers ever had a "juicy" opponent, the Colts are "it" because they're unbeaten.

If Bill Forester, Hank Gremminger, Billy Kinard and a few others ever became "murder" tacklers, this is the place to commit it.

If Dave Hanner and J. D. Kimmel ever munched a quarterback, this is the place to dirty up a real magazine hero . . . and that goes for Ford, Nate Borden, Jim Temp and the others.

If Babe Parilli and Bart Starr are going to throw truer passes or better plays, this is the spot.

If the offensive line is to give the rushers an opening and protect the passers, it must be in Baltimore Sunday.

In case you haven't guessed, Sunday's Colt game is "it" for the Packers—the biggest prize of the season and a chance to get back into the running.

The Packers were scheduled for a final light workout this afternoon in the stadium.

Same Starters

Coach Ray McLean said he'd open with the same lineup he led off with in the victory over the Philadelphia Eagles here last Sunday.

"You've got to go with a winner," McLean laughed, "and quickly a d d e d: "that 259 plays in seven games for doesn't mean that we were fifth place. His passes were perfectly satisfied with the good for 1,054 yards on 165 attempts, rating him first among passers."

The major switch had Babe Parilli starting at quarterback in place of Bart Starr who had started the previous four games. Parilli went the route and hurled four touchdown passes in the 38-35 victory. Ray felt that Babe did a good job but got too conservative in the Eagles' 21-point fourth quarter.

Catches TD Pass

All went the distance except Carmichael who switched off with Jim Shanley and Don McIlhenny. Carmichael was running and catching from scrimmage for the first time since an early season injury. He gained 14 yards in five tries and caught two passes.

Iowa 7-Point Pick Over Wolverines

Bucks Favored by TD Over 'Cats in Another Key Game

Northwestern's attempt to knock off Ohio State and Northwestern has been in Iowa's crack at Michigan stalled by the oddsmakers as highlight Big Ten football Saturday. Northwestern's Wildcats, Buckeyes, Iowa is favored by handed their first setback of seven points over Michigan, the season 26-20 by Iowa last which has a 1-1-1 mark.

Until tied 7-7 by Wisconsin, OSU had won 13 straight Big Ten games — a conference record. With the speed of Ron Burton and William Fowler, the passing of Dick Thornton, Northwestern has hopes of giving the Buckeyes their first league loss in two years. The Wildcats haven't beaten them since their Rose Criss-Cross Offense. Iowa's criss-cross offense guided by Randy Duncan is the Big Ten's best yard gainers and should prove too much for Michigan, the conference's bottom team on defense. A Hawkeye victory would fortify their Big Ten lead and end a rather remarkable jinx.

Terrors Close '58 Campaign Against Ships

And, the Terrors stowed away a couple of impressive wins—32-7 and 9-0, respectively.

Manitowoc has not taken the Terrors' measure in football since 1934, when it triumphed, 19-7.

Sixteen players will be making their final appearances in Terror grid togs. They include co-captains Joe Eich and Bob Henning.

Other seniors are linemen Bob Thomas, Ron Bunkle, Jim Beaumont, Tom Quella, Cliff Olson, Joe Gen-dron, Tom Meredith, Bob Lecy, Tom M. Verkuilen and John Scribner; and backs Bob Roemer, Mike Franke, Dennis Tank and Jim Oash-ger.

Though the Terrors' '58 season has been far from the sensational ones they enjoyed the preceding two years—graduation having taken its toll and the unexpected rise of Green Bay West and Fond du Lac having shifted the power balance—a victory Saturday could insure a commendable even-with-the-board campaign.

The highlight Terror win to date has been the 12-0 decision over Mid-Eastern conference-leading Menasha. In the conference, AHS has belted North, 21-7, and Central, 17-0.

Terror losses have been at the hands of the FRVC's top three—West, East and Fondy (each by two or three touchdowns)—and to Oshkosh (a narrow 14-13 verdict).

Wide Open Football!

Departing from tradition, AHS has become one of the FRVC's leading exponents of wide open football this season. In addition to the long-run Dave Schleunes has been the threats posed by halfbacks Ships' top rusher, Schleunes' Franke and Roemer, the Ter-rors have the throwiest QB ence, with 320 yards, one in the league in John Nuss-notch below Franke the AHS leader (360). Chicago —(AP)—The Ol' Swami takes his broomstick out to the launching pad. He has to go into orbit to figure this week's midwest football jig-saw.

Michigan State and College of Pacific let him down last week and he's now chugging along with 25-13 for '58.

Northwestern 16, Ohio State 14—The Wildcat defense will rise to heroic heights in trying to take some of the voltage out of busting Bob White and darting Don Clark. The Buckeyes will have to cope with the best speed they've faced this year in Wilmer Fowler and Ron Burton. And when they aren't running, Dick Thornton will be passing.

Iowa 27, Michigan 14—That old Michigan blocking quarterback, Forest Evanshevski, teams combined, are likely to ride the airwaves frequently again Saturday — providing the 'ceiling' is high and the atmosphere clear.

The '56 and '57 AHS teams completed an aggregate of 21 FRVC passes in 76 attempts. The current team, in six games, already has 30-for-82. The '57 team accounted for only 98 of its 1,341 total FRVC yards through the air; the '56 Terrors rushed for 1,455 yards and passed for 279. But, the '58 team has gained one-third of its 1,260 yards by passing — probably the best long passer in the country—is at his peak.

Marquette 18, Detroit 14 — With that College of Pacific scalp in their teepee, the Warriors have qualified for war paint.

Report Yanks Offer 3 for Nats' Ramos

Cleveland —(AP)—Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane said today he hopes the New York Yankees and Washington Senators complete a trade rumored Thursday night.

According to a story in the New York Daily News, the world champions of baseball have offered pitchers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant plus infielder Bobby Richardson for Washington pitcher Pedro Ramos, a right-hander who won 14 and lost 18 for the last-place Senators in 1958.

The Tribe general manager believes he would have a better chance of obtaining Richardson from the Senators than the Yanks. Cleveland is in need of a second baseman and sought Richardson last winter. Lane admitted he also had been interested in Ramos.

The Voice of Truth in the Senate

The most striking single feature about William Proxmire is his absolute dedication to honesty and forthrightness. He has consistently put public interest before partisan politics, regardless of the effect it might have on his own political career.

His first year in the United States Senate was characterized by his political independence — his absolute refusal to knuckle under to any pressure group. His total opposition to the Texas oil crowd, for instance, and his courageous fight to stop the Chicago Water Steal are excellent examples of this independence. Taking a stand against the powerful pressure groups behind these two bills cost Senator Proxmire many friends in Washington. He took the stand, never-the-less.

In his campaign for re-election, Senator Proxmire has never veered from the facts of his own record. He has refused to attack his opponent and has insisted upon an absolutely clean and positive campaign.

Wisconsin can be proud of Senator Bill Proxmire — just as the senator is proud of Wisconsin. He will never let you down.

With the exception of Lanphear, the Badgers are in good physical condition.

"We'll be facing a fine Wisconsin team Saturday," he said, "the best one we've ever played."

In addition to rehearsing the basics, the Spartans have been busy installing new plays.

It's pretty sure Michigan State will have to gamble with its heretofore ineffective passing in an effort to break up that loaded defense.

Greg Montgomery is slated to start at quarterback, and Mike Panitch is set to spell him. Ike Grimsley, the left-handed sophomore passer, a 10-minute scrimmage and Larry Bielat also have been used in recent games in an attempt to get the Spartans rolling.

AL Attendance Falls 900,184 From '57 Total

Six Clubs Show Drop; Nats and A's Gain Slightly

Chicago — The New York Yankees' runaway race in the American league was reflected today by a sharp drop in official attendance figures for the 1958 season which attracted slightly more than seven million fans.

American league headquarters reported a 1958 total attendance of 7,296,034. That was 900,184, or 11 per cent lower than the 8,196,218 attendance in 1957.

As early as May, the Yankees were 10 games in front of the AL pack.

Senators Gain Six clubs reported a decrease from 1957. Minor gains were shown by the other two clubs (Washington and Kansas City).

The 1958 attendance compares with the all-time league record of 11,150,099 set in 1948.

Three clubs — New York, Detroit and Boston — each drew more than one million fans at home, but each also reported a drop compared with attendance last year.

The Chicago White Sox showed the biggest single loss — 338,217. The Sox, who finished in second place, drew 785,451 at 77 games.

Baltimore's attendance of 829,991 in 1958 contrasts with 1,029,518 last year.

The 1,098,924 who went to 77 games in Detroit compared with 1,272,346 last year. Cleveland, which 10 years ago set a league attendance record of 2,620,627, drew 663,805 fans, a decrease of 58,451 from the 1957 turnout.

Yanks Show Loss Even the mighty Yankees, who had the league's biggest season attendance mark with 1,428,438, showed a loss of 68,696 in patronage.

In Boston, the 1,077,047 faithful who went to 77 games in Fenway park were 104,040 fewer than the total last year.

The Athletics drew 925,090, a gain of 24,023. The Senators, with the lowest total in the league, had a gain of 18,209 over 1957 with 475,288.

'Bud' Wilkinson on Edge Over Sooners' Tilt With Colorado

BY JIM MARPSTER

Denver — It's about as hard to upset Oklahoma Coach "Bud" Wilkinson as it is his football Sooners. But it happened Thursday, just as Colorado partisans are hoping it will Saturday at nearby Boulder.

Once-beaten Oklahoma clashes with the unbeaten Buffaloes in a game that likely will settle the Big Eight conference title and a bid to the Orange bowl game.

Usually placid Wilkinson unloaded his troops for their first local practice session at a private estate where reporters and photographers had been waiting for more than an hour. Their patience was thin. So was Wilkinson's.

The usually placid Sooner head man was in no mood for questions and flash bulbs and he told the press corps so.

"We haven't any time for that stuff," he snapped. "We're working on a schedule."

He brushed aside the press representatives and barked orders to his players. They hustled inside the guarded gates of the estate where they ran through no-contact drills.

Jack Crwiler, Associated Press photographer, approached Wilkinson and complained: "We've been waiting an hour and a half on you."

"I don't care if you get your picture or not," Wilkinson retorted.

High Altitude The mile-high altitude here and at Boulder, home of the University of Colorado, long has been considered by Oklahoma fans a physical and psychological threat to their team. The Buffaloes have been a perennial challenger for the mighty Sooners, who are unbeaten in 67 consecutive Big Eight games.

Wilkinson brought his Redskins here by plane Wednesday night, 24 hours earlier than for past games.

That fact and his testiness are proof enough of the emphasis he places on Saturday's battle before 46,000 fans.

UW Frosh to Play Varsity Reserves

Madison — The University of Wisconsin reports it has abandoned the annual freshman intrasquad football game and instead the yearlings will play the Badger reserves.

The game will be played the night of Nov. 10 at Breese Stevens field.

Appleton's Judy Verrier is one of four University of Miami coeds who are organizing a golf team this fall.

Miss Verrier, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Verrier, 412 W. Parkway blvd. is Neenah Ridgeway women's champion.

Among her teammates at Miami is Judy Eller, the 1958 National Girls champion from Old Hickory, Tenn. Miss Eller, 18, is a freshman at Miami. Besides her national title she holds several amateur championships including the Tennessee State Women's crown. She shoots in the low 70s.

Matches have already been arranged with local women's golf associations and the girls are seeking matches with other colleges in the state. They're trying to get permission to play in the Florida intercollegiate tournament which always has been limited to males in the past.

The Lawrence college football team has had its troubles this fall but the senior contingent of Vike gridders are highly successful in the classroom.

Five of the six seniors—Line, Keiser, Jim Reiskyll, Bill Weber, Pete Walch and Dave Mulford—are "B" students or better. And, the sixth Lawrence college Freshman Football Coach Gene Davis is motoring to Galesburg, Ill. with the Vike varsity this weekend but he won't see the Lawrence-Knox game Saturday.

Davis will go on 12 miles further, alone, to scout Monmouth college in its game with Grinnell. The Vikes play Monmouth next week.

Lawrence Coach Bernie Heselton got quite a rise out of the Appleton Quarterback club assemblage the other night while narrating the films of the Vikings' 15-0 loss to Cornell.

A Lawrence back broke through the line and into the secondary as Heselton said "Boy, he did a beautiful job there—but oops, he forgot the darn ball. Sure enough, the camera peeked back and there was the ball on the ground. Heselton, of course, had seen the films several times before showing them and was well prepared for the fumble.

Fox Cities Foxes Business Manager Bob Willis is preparing for another busy winter refereeing grade school, prep and college basketball games.

This winter, Willis will officiate games in the Little Nine, Eastern Wisconsin, Mid-Eastern, Fox River Valley, Fox Valley Catholic and Northeastern Wisconsin high school conferences and college contests in the Midwest conference and at St. Norbert.

In most of his games Bob's "partner" is Orv Bongers, Little Chute. He also frequently works with Gene Clark, Appleton St. Mary coach. Willis' slate of approximately 50 games opens Nov. 18, the first evening of high school basketball in Wisconsin.

Appleton High Football Coach Ade Dillon found that he had success this fall convincing junior end Dick Wankey of the need for Dick's developing speed only after Dillon impressed upon Wankey how important quickness is in baseball.

Wankey is a promising young pitcher.

The Terrors' other regular offensive wingman, Tom "Toby" Meredith now must know how a pro end feels.

Meredith had a great afternoon in Sheboygan last Saturday (three sensational catches) and Manitowoc Head Coach Frank Granitz was on hand, scouting the Terrors.

Quite certain that Granitz will have his Ships do their best to keep Meredith at the line of scrimmage so he can get into the open here Saturday. Dillon Tuesday night set up a little drill to give "Toby" practice in getting downfield.

Taking part in the drill was a center, the Terrors' passer, John Nussbaum, and two of the regular AHS defensive linemen. The two linemen were to bother Meredith at the line of scrimmage and help his passing pattern.

On one occasion, they did their job so well, really work "cleaning up" on Meredith, that Dillon hurriedly called an end to the session.

Despite the 2-on-1 harassment, Meredith did a generally fine job of evading the obstacles and snaring Nussbaum's tosses.

"Toby", who was a half-back last season, has developed as fast as any player on the squad this season.

Saturday's Games:
Oshkosh at Fond du Lac.
North at Central.
East at West.
Appleton at Manitowoc.

The Appleton High school junior varsity football team could finish in second place in the Fox River Valley JV conference if the right series of events transpire this weekend.

If the Junior Terrors beat the Shipbuilders JV's at Manitowoc Saturday morning and Fond du Lac tops Oshkosh, Appleton would clinch the runnerup spot behind champion Fondy.

The third - place junior errors have lost only to the league's bottom two clubs this season, Green Bay East (6-0) and West (7-6). They tied Fond du Lac, 0-0, for the only black mark on the Cardinal record.

Appleton hand Oshkosh one of its only two setbacks, 7-6. Manty has averaged 10 points per game both on offense and on defense in chalking up a 2-2-2 record. Appleton has averaged 7.7 offensively and 4.1 defensively.

The Investor

Do Your Own Research, Members Of Investment Club Advised

BY WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. Some 12 or 15 men, including myself, are starting a neighborhood investment club. We plan to put in $20 apiece each month and invest it whether the market is high or low. For most of us, the club will not be our main channel of investment. It is intended as more of a mutual education.

We plan to take nothing out of the club's fund. Dividends and profits will be constantly reinvested. Any drop in the value of the club's investments won't mean that anyone will go hungry. We are all well off financially.

Our main interest will be in growth situations. We would like to have your recommendations. In other words, what three or four stocks offer the greatest growth possibilities over the next five years?

A. You boys, by deciding to form an investment club, are on the right track.

By seeking an education about the world of finance, you have a good head of steam up and are rolling along nicely.

But, when you pull a switch and ask the best growth stocks' be served up on a silver platter, you are in danger of being derailed.

Definite Purpose

Even if I knew the answer to that one (I don't), I would still have to ask why a dozen or more intelligent men are willing to let one man do all their thinking for them. You would be defeating your purpose in forming the club in the first place.

An investment club should be more than just a method of getting general education for its members. You can get that in textbooks.

By really knuckling down, members of investment clubs can do much more. They can learn the ins and outs of the market by practicing the art of investing.

Members of your club should be assigned to study industries and individual companies. They should make their reports at meetings, at which all members can question them and debate before deciding where the club's money should be invested.

Work at it. Get financial reports and other information about stocks the club is considering. Don't treat the $20 a month each member is putting up the same way you would the pot in monthly penny ante poker game.

Dollar Averaging

Q. One thing in your column confuses me. You keep writing about dollar averaging. If I buy $100 worth of the same stock every month, I can't do it if the stock is selling at $55 a share. I can only get one share. I can't buy a fraction of a share. Please explain.

A. It's easy enough. You simply keep the money you have left over each time and apply it toward your next purchase. If you plan to dollar average by putting up $100 a month into a stock selling at $55 a share, you would buy one share the first month and have $45 left over. The next month, when you put up another $100 you would have $145 available. You would buy two shares, and have $35 left to add to the next month's purchase.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia, the National league batting champ, Elston Howard of New York, Pete Runnels of Boston, Dick Groat and Bob Friend of Pittsburgh and Gus Triandos of Baltimore are the players. Frankie Frisch, the old "Fordham Flash" and former manager, Cal Hubbard, umpire supervisor of the AL and "Buck" Canel, a sportscaster, are the others.

4) holds a 1-game lead Eileen Hoel's 520 topped the Elks Women's American loop. One of her J. C. Penney games was a 2-0.

Cigaret Service (18-6) holds a 2-game lead.

Other honor scores in the Women's American wheel: Bernice Moore 198, 510.

Frick Leaves On Good Will Trip Today

Six Players, Frisch, Hubbard to Fly Down Next Week

New York—(U)—A man placed a neat red box on Ford Frick's desk. Inside were two baseballs, properly autographed by the 1958 World Series teams. Each rested on a shiny silver dollar, nestled in a plush lining.

"These are for the president of Venezuela," said Frick who leaves today on a good neighbor trip to Caracas. The rest of the cast, including six ball players, will follow next week. The commissioner of baseball is just getting back into the groove after an attack of appendicitis that forced him to miss the World Series.

By Boat

"I'm going down to Caracas by boat—for the rest—and the others are going to fly down next week," said Frick. "They already are playing a winter ball down there. I will make some talks and help them on the organization end. The players and others will work with the kids on the sand lots and in the playgrounds."

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia, the National league batting champ, Elston Howard of New York, Pete Runnels of Boston, Dick Groat and Bob Friend of Pittsburgh and Gus Triandos of Baltimore are the players. Frankie Frisch, the old "Fordham Flash" and former manager, Cal Hubbard, umpire supervisor of the AL and "Buck" Canel, a sportscaster, are the others.

AFL-CIO May Seek State Insurance Fund

Would Replace Private Coverage Of Present Statute

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Insurance circles here are disturbed by reports that the AFL-CIO is preparing a drive in the state legislature for the creation of a state-operated workmen's compensation fund.

It would replace the traditional system of private coverage of risks under the state workmen's compensation act. Paul J. Rogan, state commissioner of insurance, says he will oppose such legislation if it is introduced.

Wisconsin private insurance rates are low, among the states of the country, in spite of the fact that the injury indemnity schedule under Wisconsin law for employees injured in the course of their employment is comparatively high, he said.

Largest Sources
Wisconsin employers are now paying for workmen's compensation insurance at the rate of $32,000,000 a year. Compensation risks are among the largest sources of premiums for several of the large casualty companies domiciled in Wisconsin.

Over 1,000,000 Wisconsin persons are now covered by the compensation act, representing more than 67,000 employers.

Most of them contract with private carriers to pay benefits, although the law permits self-insurance by employers under some circumstances. Usually the self-insured employers are the larger ones.

Foundation Plans $2,000 for Study In Health Field

New York — The National Foundation announced today a scholarship program for high school graduates to provide up to $2,000 for study in the health field.

Basil O'Connor, foundation president, said there was a great need for more trained people in the health professions.

The program will begin with 505 scholarships a year and may grow to 1,000 or 2,000 scholarships if the beginning is successful, O'Connor said. It will start with the September 1959 semester.

Each scholarship will provide up to $500 a year for four years. In the next 10 years the program is expected to cost at least $12 million. Fifteen scholarships will be awarded in Wisconsin.

Small Pay Checks Biggest Reason For Shortage of Young Teachers

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — Constantly one hears of the shortage of teachers. The complaint is even more pressing that competent, devoted persons do not enter the teaching profession. Various reasons are given but emphasis must be placed upon teachers' pay.

The starting salary in a large city like New York for a green tylist, just out of college, with no experience whatsoever and usually with a very swollen cranium if she has gone to one of the big seven girls' colleges, is between $60 and $63 a week.

Now, let us have a look at teachers: The annual average salary for instructional staff, 1956-57 ranged from $2,430 a year in Arkansas to $5,475 per year in California. That is from $46.73 a week to $105.29 a week, with all sorts of variations in between. I take a 52-week-a-year because that is only fair in the case of teachers. Admittedly, there are cost of living variations for different localities.

Higher Qualifications
Those who are opposed to meeting this problem head on bring together all sorts of tales to prove that teachers are well paid compared with other public workers. But as the future of our children is the major proposition before us, it is to be expected that teachers' qualifications are higher than most other state employees.

The school system needs to draw upon the most intelligent element in the community. That is not so now in many areas where cheap education is sought; where the politicians are more interested in buildings and supplies, which bring rake-offs for individuals, than in paying teachers who come in close contact with the child, a wage that is sufficient to support one properly on a current living scale.

A teacher ought to be supported in a manner to be able to take a proper place in the community.

The question at issue is not whether a foreman gets less than a teacher. It is whether the child respects the teacher.

ATTENTION ALL WHO ARE WORKMENS COMPENSATION

THE STATE OF WIS. HAS ONE OF THE POOREST WORKMENS COMPENSATION IN EXISTENCE TODAY.

DO YOU KNOW THAT UNDER WISCONSIN LAW THE MAXIMUM PER WEEK. IN 1922 $35.00 WAS THE MAXIMUM. IF YOU NEXT YEAR, COULD YOU SUPPORT YOUR FAMILY ON $49.50 IS ONLY ARBITRARY. THE INSURANCE CO. CAN STOP THIS REGARDLESS OF THE OPINION OF YOUR DOCTOR. THIS IS FACT

DO YOU KNOW THE MAXIMUM EVER PAID IN DEATH BENEFIT WISCONSIN HAS BEEN $11,000.00. IF YOU WERE KILLED ON THE JOB WIFE SUPPORT HERSELF AND YOUR CHILDREN ON $11,000.00 EVER PAID IN WISCONSIN.

DO YOU KNOW THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION IS COMING POINTED TO THE JOB BY THE GOVERNOR WITHOUT ANY QUALIFICATION.

DO YOU KNOW THE PERCENTAGE OF PROFIT FOR INSURANCE TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS 40%. WHY SHOULD THEY BE BY LAW?

THE DETERIORATION OF WORKMENS COMPENSATION YEARS OF REPUBLICAN LEADERS' "HONESTY AND INTEGRITY"

DO YOU KNOW THAT MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANIES EARNINGS AND NOT THEIR PROFIT UNLIKE ANY OTHER BUSINESS PRESENTED TO CHANGE THIS BUT PEOPLE LIKE BUBOLZ HAVE THEIR PASSAGE. IT IS NOT EASY TO UNDERSTAND WHY GOVERNMENT A LOCAL MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY AND A PRINCIPLE FIGHTING TO KEEP MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANIES FROM PROFIT. HOWEVER, WHEN PRIEBE WAS QUESTIONED ON THIS WOULD HAVE TO STUDY THE QUESTION. IT IS TIME FOR TRIUMPH TO VOTE IN THEIR OWN INTEREST.

REGARDLESS OF THE OUTCOME OF THIS ELECTION, I SHALL BE A COMMITTEE WHICH WILL FIGHT FOR BETTER COMPENSATION.

IT IS TIME WE FORGET THE WORDS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY HAVE RENDERED USELESS.

ALL RELIGIONS TEACH COMPARISON AND UNDERSTANDING IN POLITICS AS WELL.

IS IT BETTER TO HAVE 14 TO 16 YEARS OF POLITICAL EXPERIENCE THE ABILITY TO UNDERSTAND THE PROBLEMS WE ALL HAVE? THE ONLY CAMPAIGN PROMISE I MAKE TO YOU, I SHALL NOT BE DICTATED TO, OR HAVE ANY INSURANCE COMPANY LEADERS OF ANY OTHER OUTSIDE INTEREST WOULD VOTE AT ALL TIMES AND NEVER FOR THE PRIVATE OR ANY INDIVIDUALS.

I SHALL NOT ONLY APPRECIATE YOUR VOTE, I SHALL ALSO WE HAVE TRIED BULLETS AND GUNS, POLITICAL "HONESTY" YEARS OF LEGISLATIVE EXPERIENCE; SO NOW LET US TRY LEGISLATION
